Report Mellen Pledges U. S. to Cancel G. T. Deal

MONOPOLY DEAL HALTED; FEDERAL PROBE HELD UP

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—It was stated today at the Federal building that the halting of the United States Grand Jury investigation of the traffic agreement between the Grand Trunk railway and the New Haven Railroad was due to pledges made to the government that this twenty-five-year compact would not be carried out.

The alleged breaking up of the deal which meant a $200,000,000 monopoly would shatter the government's charge that the roads were violating the Sherman anti-trust law and spoil the government's case.

It is believed that the subpoenas served upon railway officials to appear before the Federal Grand Jury will be withdrawn at once. Among those subpoenaed were J. P. Morgan, William Rockefeller and President Mellen, a Morgan man and head of the New Haven.

It is regarded as possible that the Grand Trunk will continue its construction of the Southern New England Railway, upon which $2,000,000 had been expended when the agreement with the New Haven road was proposed and work was stopped.

WILSON MAY PROSECUTE N. E. RAILWAY MONOPOLY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Unless Attorney-General Wickersham and the Department of Justice push the investigation of the New England railroad monopoly, held in a vice-like grip by the New Haven Road, or unless the House of Representatives itself, or the Interstate Commerce Commission has uncovered fully the facts in regard to this monopoly, President-Elect Woodrow Wilson, as soon as he comes into office March 4, will be urged to take the matter up, reopen it and turn on the light.

It is not at all unlikely that the first great anti-trust struggle of the Wilson administration will be against the New Haven Railroad which has New England in its grasp.

Declaring that the Grand Jury investigation of the New Haven and Grand Trunk railroads for alleged conspiracy in restraint of trade has only been suspended, the Department of Justice today announced that the investigation of the books and records of the roads would be begun at once by one of the ablest special agents of the department.

At the same time the department denounced with vigor the report that the Grand Jury probe which was to have started today in New York had been called off because J. Pierpont Morgan called up, as alleged, over the long-distance telephone.

Assistant Attorney-General Jesse Adkins, who will have charge of the investigation by the department, and New England railroad commissioners who recently appealed to the White House for aid against the grip of the New Haven in New England probably will have a conference this afternoon regarding the investigation.

MRS. RAYMOND BURNED SHOES, GIRL TESTIFIES

COURTHOUSE, Augusta, Me., Nov. 21.—Gertrude Raymond, seventeen years old, and a niece of Elsie Hobbs, on trial for the murder of Mattie Hackett at Readfield, seven years ago, swore today that on the day after the girl was strangled to death she saw her aunt burn a pair of shoes.

Gertrude was then ten years old. She went to visit her aunt the next day after Mattie Hackett was killed. The witness was asked if she could recall something that Bert Raymond, husband of the accused woman, said to her before the shoes were burned. The witness could not recall the alleged conversation.

"Are you sure you saw your aunt burn the shoes?" was the only question asked by Congressman McGillicuddy in cross-examination.

"I am positive," replied the girl.

The prosecution has measurements of footprints made near the Hackett home on the night of the crime. The prosecution claims the burned shoes, worn by Mrs. Raymond, made the tracks.

The trial today was enlivened by a sharp tilt between Congressman McGillicuddy and Attorney-General Pattangall. Proprietor Stevens of the Elmwood Hotel of Readfield had just testified. Bert Raymond worked for Stevens at the time of the murder.

With bowed head and tear-dimmed eyes she walked through the courtroom and took her place on the witness stand. Every eye in the big courtroom was fixed upon her. The sun with all its radiance poured through the room. It seemed as though the elements were more considerate than anything else. Judge Whitehouse ordered the court messenger to give the witness a glass of water. She appeared as she is, a broken-hearted woman.

As she gave her name her voice was barely audible. When she said that she was the mother of Mattie Hackett she sobbed bitterly. Although seven years

26 FIREMEN IN LOWELL FALL AS CHURCH BURNS

LOWELL, Nov. 21.—Twenty-six firemen were overcome by smoke and $180,000 damage was done to the Church of St. John De Baptiste, the second largest church in the city, at Merrimack, Aiken and Moody streets. Three alarms were sounded.

Just before noon, the roof of the structure fell in with a crash endangering the lives of scores of firemen. The granite walls remained standing. Pieces of debris broke a number of stained glass windows.

The Rev. Father Baron was taken out unconscious trying to aid the firemen.

The fire when discovered by the Rev. Father Guillaume Oueletta when celebrating 7:30 mass with a congregation of 150 men and women. Father Ouelette dismissed the congregation quietly and saved the blessed sacrament in auditorium and basement altars.

Fire Travels to Roof.

The fire traveled up from a room in the rear of the altar to the roof on the rear end, worked along the roof and to the front wall.

Fear was felt for the $18,000 organ high in the front of the auditorium. Not only was the organ threatened by flames, but its stone supports are none too strong for its weight.

Fire Chief Hoster finally ordered firemen not to work in the immediate vicinity of the organ.

Firemen were overcome in the front gallery. They broke windows to get air. They were even forced to smash costly memorial windows for this purpose.

Twenty-five hose streams, including the water tower stream, were directed at the roof through front and rear windows. The dense smoke in the auditorium made it difficult to direct the water to advantage.

By 9:30 the auditorium floor was afloat in six inches of water.

Women Weep at Fire.

Statuary of heroic size was carried out by the priests and firemen before the smoke made it necessary for Chief Hosmer to bar all but firemen from the structure.

Twenty thousand persons, mainly residents of St. Jean's parish, pressed close on the fire lines along Merrimack, Aiken and Moody streets. Old parishioners, especially women, wept as they thought of the ruin being wrought in their beloved church.

St. Jean de Baptiste Church is a granite structure, completed fifteen years ago at a cost of $210,000.

Fear was not felt for the stone walls of the building, but it was soon evident the interior would be wrecked.

The fire started, it is supposed, in one of the small rooms back of the altar on the main floor. Fr. Ouelette was celebrating mass when he noticed the altar lights, gas arc illuminants, flicker, then go out. Then he heard a sound from the rear like a report. He went around to the rear rooms and found one in flames. He came to the altar front and said quietly in French:

"There is a fire in the rear of the church. The congregation will leave quickly and without confusion."

Chief Hosmer ordered a second alarm and a third soon after arriving. This brought all the fire apparatus in Lowell.

The firemen could get at the church structure easily enough on account of the three approaches from Merrimack street in the front, Moody street in the rear and Aiken street along the westerly side.

But getting at the flames themselves was difficult. The path of the fire lay along the rafters and other woodwork directly under the slate roof.

Callman Cornelius Cronin inhaled so much smoke that he did not respond to fresh air, or a stiff dose of brandy. He was taken to a hospital.

WINNERS IN THE PUZZLE CONTEST WILL BE ANNOUNCED FRIDAY.

Prof. Ogden Helps Out Cupid

Introduced His Son to Fiancee

MISS ALICE CAROLINE ABRAHAMS.

When he leads Miss Alice Caroline Abrahams, chief clerk in the Washington street office of the Bay State Street Railway, to the altar on December 10, Cecil Ogden, a traveling man of Brighton, will have his father to thank for his bride. It was the father, Professor John P. Ogden, a retired teacher of languages, that first brought the couple together after he had expressed a wish that Miss Abrahams might become his own daughter-in-law.

Friends of the couple learned today that the father had really made the "match." Five years ago Miss Abrahams, who lives at No. 9 Rozella street, Dorchester, was learning Esperanto under Professor Ogden's instruction. The Esperanto class had organized a walking club, friends said today. The acquaintance of professor and pupil grew, and finally he spoke of his son.

"Next time I'm going to bring him along," announced the father. And the professor did. The son became one of the most zealous of the members of the professor's outdoor club.

The couple will be married at 6 o'clock on the evening of December 10 at the home of the bride-to-be. Rev. George F. Pratt, pastor of the Dix Street Unitarian Church, will officiate. The best man will be Edgar E. Abrahams, brother of the bride-to-be, and the maid of honor will be Miss Vera Abrahams, her sister. After a honeymoon out West the couple will be at home after January 1 at No. 16 Adelia avenue, West Newton.

WARSHIP BLOWN UP BY BULGARS

SOFIA, Nov. 21.—The Turkish warship Hamidieh is reported to have been blown up by Bulgarian torpedo boats with heavy loss of life.

It was regarded here as probable that there had been confusion in names, and that some Turkish warship other than the Hamidieh had been blown up.

The dispatch said the Hamidieh was blown up near Varna, a Bulgarian port on the Black Sea.

SCOUR CHESTNUT HILL THICKETS IN HUNT FOR BODY

Notwithstanding that the Boston police have cast doubt on the genuineness of the so-called "strangler post cards" that they have received, in connection with the murder of Joseph Josephs, a seven-year-old boy of Lackawanna, N. Y., and the disappearance of some Boston boys, they were so deeply interested in the communications that came to them that today they renewed their search of Chestnut Hill, where one of the cards declared the body of Joseph L. O'Connor would be found.

The Boston police have received in all, so far as is known, four postal cards bearing on the strange crime. Some of these communications, they have frankly declared, they believe to have been the work of cranks.

But the police do not intend to take any chances, and for that reason the search of Chestnut Hill, begun yesterday and continued until dark, began again today with renewed vigor.

MISSING O'CONNOR BOY TWELVE YEARS OLD.

The O'Connor boy, for whose body the police are looking, left his home at No. 27A Phillips street, Roxbury, October 18. He is twelve years old. One of the anonymous postcards received by the Boston police stated that the boy had been murdered and his body buried on Chestnut Hill.

The Newton police took the lead in the hunt today. A squad of six men with Policeman Marriner in charge started their search at 8:30 o'clock.

One of the men carried a shovel. They proposed to dig into the earth if they came across any ground that appeared to have been lately disturbed.

Search Is Thorough.

The searchers attacked the underbrush and timber land that stretches northwest from the Chestnut Hill railroad station to Hammond's Pond. The men went slowly and made their work thorough.

This was the section that had been gone over in a preliminary way yesterday by three Newton policemen. Their work was in vain.

But Captain Mitchell was not satisfied. He doubled the force and again tackling the job. The woods are thick with underbrush and it is because of that that the police believe that if a crime has been committed and a body buried on Chestnut Hill that the Newton section would prob-

ATTY. DUDLEY TELLS EVIDENCE AGAINST HICKEY

TOM'S RIVER, N. J., Nov. 21.—J. Frank Hickey, formerly of Boston, was on the verge of collapse today as authorities from New York prepared to take him to Rochester, and later to the Erie County Jail, to face an indictment for murder in the first degree.

Hickey is indicted for the murder of Joseph Josephs at Lackawanna, a suburb of Buffalo, a year ago. He is under suspicion of being the murderer of Michael FEAR FOR FRANZ JOSEF'S HEALTH.

VIENNA, Nov. 21.—Alarming reports concerning the Austrian Emperor's health were current here today. No details were available, but his majesty is so old and feeble that the gravest anxiety is felt whenever he is indisposed.

FIND MISSING MAN'S BURNED BODY.

WARSAW, N. Y., Nov. 21.—The partially charred body of Frank Bentley, manager of the Star Cheese Factory of Warsaw, was found in the woods near the town of Weathersfield, about ten miles from here, this morning. A bullet hole in the head showed how Bentley met his death. Evidences of efforts to do away with the body by fire were apparent. Part of the dead man's body and much of the clothing were burned. Bently had been missing since last Saturday.

WHITMAN PREDICTS THE CONVICTION OF CHAMBERLAIN HYDE

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Depicting the defendant as a betrayer of a public trust and the juggler of huge sums which he was paid to guard, District Attorney Whitman opened the bribery trial of Charles H. Hyde, ex-city chamberlain and former law partner of Mayor Gaynor, today, with an address to the jury in which he confidently promised to produce evidence which would convict the accused.

The District Attorney's opening address shows that the charge against Hyde, while dealing for the purposes of punishment with only a $130,000 and a $13,500 transaction, is a matter involving the fraudulent use of more than $1,000,000 by the ex-city chamberlain. He said Hyde compelled Robin to cause the Northern Bank to loan the Carnegie Trust Company $130,000, which loan was to the personal advantage and benefit of Hyde, and that as an inducement for the making of said loan Hyde promised to increase the amount of money belonging to the city of New York kept on deposit in the Northern Bank, which was done.

TO SING MASS FOR ORPHANAGE'S FRIENDS

Solemn high mass of requiem for the deceased benefactors of St. Vincent Orphan Asylum will be celebrated in the orphanage chapel tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. This is one of the few occasions when this choir of trained little singers may be heard in public.

DAKOTAN KNEW OLD COACHMAN

EAST CAMBRIDGE COURTHOUSE, Nov. 21.—William H. Storey, a Melrose letter carrier, was the first witness in the Russell will contest today. Two of Mr. Storey's brothers had testified for the claimant.

Mr. Storey testified that he was nine years older than Daniel Blake Russell. He was coachman and did general work for the late Senator Russell and saw the Russell boys, Danny and Willie, quite frequently. The witness described the peculiar gait of Daniel Blake Russell and his habits of speech which he described to be a sort of stammering.

Mr. Storey testified that he met the claimant in 1909 in front of the engine house in Melrose. The meeting was accidental.

Mr. Scharton wanted to know if the witness had seen the claimant before this and Mr. Storey answered that he had not.

"Did you see Mr. Almy before you saw the claimant.

"Yes."

Mr. Scharton then attempted to get in evidence alleging that Mr. Almy had told the witness that the claimant was not Daniel Blake Russell, but that he was an imposter, a French Canadian, and that Almy had asked the witness not to furnish the claimant with any information. Master Pevey refused to allow any evidence of this sort to go in at this time.

In describing his meeting with the claimant in Melrose, Mr. Storey said: "Chief Engineer Edwards asked the claimant if he knew who I was. The claimant answered, 'Yes, I guess so.' 'Do you know who I am, Dan?' I asked him. 'You used to work for father,' replied the claimant."

HIS "AUTO LICENSE" A PERMIT TO WED

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 21.—The Providence police insist an autoist have an automobile license. A marriage license isn't enough. That was the trouble with Chester C. Darling, who was motoring on Hope street. An officer stopped him and demanded his auto license. Darling flashed a document which, when unfolded, proved to be a permit from City Hall for Mr. Darling to wed a certain young woman. The policeman couldn't see how that gave Mr. Darling any right to speed, and the autoist was fined $15 and costs.

DEMONSTRATION BY SOUTH END CHURCHES

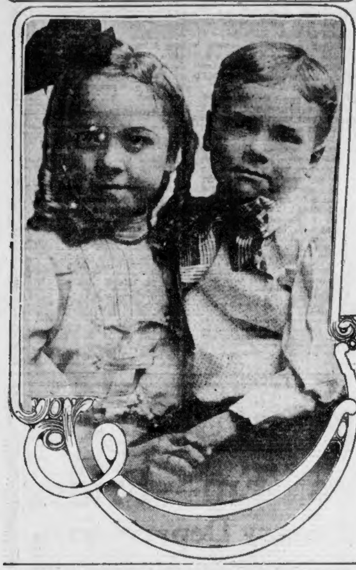
Wood Tragedy Victim 'Little Mother'

ORPHANED WORCESTER CHILDREN



Gladys Wood at Thirteen Must Care for Her Sole Remaining Brother.

WORCESTER, Nov. 21.—Thirteen-year-old Gladys Wood and her ten-year-old brother, Milton, face the world alone today as the result of the tragedy in which their father, crazed with jealousy, murdered their mother and their four-months-old baby brother and then killed himself by chloroform.

While preparations are being made for the triple funeral, the little girl is striving bravely to keep a full understanding of the blow from her younger brother.

Their father's insane deed leaves them alone of the happy home circle of which John Wood, for over twenty years employed as buyer for the grocery firm of Walker Armington, on Main street, was so proud up to the time he began to be jealous of the attentions he fancied his wife was receiving from another man.

Neighbors and relatives began today to plan for taking care of the brave little orphans, to see that they should want for nothing, and be able to go on with their studies at school. Their little playmates, too, did all they could to comfort them.

Many of Wood's requests in his last letters will be followed as far as possible. He wrote among other things: "Put on Bessie's wedding dress."

The letter was written on stationery of the Hotel Arlington, New York, and dated November 8. Wood left it in the room of Waterman Nichols, a lodger, and wrote on it "left at 2:15. John left at 6." Rayne letter in part, follows:

> Buy a lot in Hope Cemetery for about $50, and have it taken care of and have a vault built for Bessie, Raymond and John, so we can be buried in one vault sure. (The word "sure" being heavily underlined.) Be sure and have the children, Gladys and Milton, taken good care of. Keep all the furniture for the children and silverware and all the pictures, piano and sell all the old furniture in the attic. Have Waterman Nichols try to take care of the children and have a home with them because they love him.
>
> Try and keep the house for the children because the income will keep them in education. If Gladys wants to go to her grandmother, Mrs. John W. Wood, No. 34 Baker street, let her go. Keep a strict hand on Milton Wood.

OVERHEATED STOVE DRIVES OUT EATERS

A blaze in the kitchen of the restaurant owned by William Wilkinson, No. 318 Main street, Charlestown, drove the customers from the tables into the street today. The fire apparatus opposite prevented the flames from gaining much headway. The damage was $300. An overheated stove started the fire.

GIRLS FIGHT FOR LYLE MILLIONS

Miss Frances Lyle Sparrow of Abington and Miss Janet Marie Lyle of Worcester, who has been a laundry operative, have instituted in the New Jersey courts a new contest for the $20,000,000 estate of John S. Lyle, the nonogenarian multi-millionaire of Tenafly, N. J., who left practically all his estate to his second wife, who was Miss Julia G. Hannan, a Springfield girl, later a trained nurse in New York city. The two contestants not only allege undue influence on the part of the young second wife but will even question the marriage itself. Mr. Lyle's second marriage was a surprise to his acquaintances.

The will of Mr. Lyle was first contested by Edward, Edwin L. and William Metcalf and Catherine B. Smith, who alleged undue influence. This contest has just been dismissed at Hackensack, N. J., for lack of prosecution. The contestants filed their suit, then disappeared, leaving no information or trace of themselves.

But, with the dismissal of the first contest a second one was immediately entered on behalf of Miss Sparrow of Abington, a niece, and Miss Lyle of Worcester, a grandniece of the testator, according to the declarations. Miss Janet M. Lyle lived at No. 46 Lincoln street, Worcester, and worked in the Union Laundry recently.

Princess Who Likes Cigars Finds Boston Bans Her Cigarette

The Princess Colleredo Mannsfeld is off today for New York, where women smoke—much more publicly than in Boston. An attache of the Touraine barred her from puffing a cigarette in the lobby of the hotel, but she isn't really provoked about it. She was going anyway, for she has to catch the Mauretania for Merrie England.

With her she takes her imported cigarettes, her huge diamond solitaire and black velvet vanity bag, bordered with diamonds, in the corner of which was her monogram surmounted by a coronet of diamonds. But she takes away no grudge against Boston. She said:

> Isn't it funny the women don't smoke here. Queen Alexandra smokes. Why, it was with the Princess Wurtemburg I smoked my first cigar.
>
> Please put me down as the Vicomtesse d'Etchegoyan because, you know my husband, the prince, is not with me on this visit to America.
>
> I came over to America this time just for the sea trip. I brought my little brother with me to take him to Nassau, in the British Bahamas.

In the party with the princess were Lady Cartwright, Captain Walter R. Cartwright of the British army, Colonel J. P. Patterson of New York, T. Kennard Thompson, president of the Canadian Club of New York, and G. E. Medley Scott, vice-president of the New York Canadian Club.

RETIREMENT

OF MR. GEORGES, SR.

A Million Dollar Stock of GEORGES Model Clothes

Sacrificed to Get CASH

AT THE successful close of this Reorganization Sale, I shall take over complete ownership of the entire Georges business, one of the largest in America, devoted to the retail selling of clothing.

I'm meeting this necessity for turning my stock into cash with vim and vigor. I've reduced prices, regardless of everything. I must make my offer extraordinary. I must attract you. I must raise the cash, because settlement has to be made with the retiring senior member of this concern in a short time.

You've never had a better, bigger opportunity to buy clothes than right now and here. I fully realize that the future of my business after this reorganization depends upon the values and methods of my present sale.

HONOR FEAT OF HEROIC CHILD

Mr. and Mrs. Martin J. Walsh of No. 1 Soley street, Charlestown, have received from the Massachusetts Humane Society a silver medal of honor in recognition of the bravery of their fourteen-year-old daughter, Eleanor Gertrude Walsh, who was drowned July 22, in Bird's pond, East Walpole, after saving the lives of two boys who were unable to swim.

She was reading a book on the shore of the pond when her first cousin, Reginald Simpson, ten, of 92 Timpson street, [illegible], and Roy Burton, eight, of 30 Brooks street, Brookline, fell from a raft into twelve feet of water.

Eleanor, who was able to swim a little, bravely swam to the rescue of the boys, who were struggling in the water. With much difficulty she succeeded in lifting them upon the raft. Exhausted, she lost her hold on the edge of the raft and sank to her death before aid arrived.

The medal of honor bears her name and reference of her brave deed. She was an only child.

ELEANOR WALSH, WHO DIED SAVING DROWNING BOYS

A medal in recognition of this litt girl's heroic deed at East Walpo recently has been given to th child's parents by the Massachuset Humane Society.

Home Face Peeling Becomes Popular

(From Fashion Reporter)

No complexion treatment yet discovered seems to have become so generally and so immediately popular as the mercolized wax process. Evidently the reason for this is that this method actually gets rid of a bad complexion, which can hardly be said of any other. To temporarily hide or bleach the defective skin with cosmetics cannot compare with the effect of literally removing the skin itself. Mercolized wax takes off the offending surface skin in flour-like particles, a little at a time, until there's none of it left. The new complexion thus produced has a healthy glow and girlish beauty obtainable in no other way. This wax, which you can get at your druggist's, is applied at night the same way you use cold cream, and washed off next morning.

Here is the only thing I know of that actually tends to remove wrinkles, remove them quickly, and at trifling cost: Powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in ½ pt. witch hazel. Use as a face bath.

LABOR MEETING NEARING AN END

PHILIP J. HALVOSA.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 21.—With only three days left in which to close on schedule time, the A. F. of L. convention resumed business this morning with less than one-third of the big questions up for consideration settled.

The proposed revocation of the International Association of Steamfitters' charter, as well as the resolution calling for the future election of federation officials by referendum vote, are yet to be disposed of.

Both these measures are sure to call forth lengthy debates, the referendum resolution in particular being regarded as one of the most important questions before the convention.

The exact method to be pursued by the federation in its attempt to have the Sherman anti-trust law amended, also remains unsettled, while the committees on adjustment, resolutions, organization, building trades and labels all have a number of very important questions to report to the main body.

Called on to take steps looking for the formation of a strictly national union labor party, the A. F. of L. convention by an overwhelming majority voted not to permit partisan politics in the federation. The convention voted, instead, to urge all members to support the men they knew to be friendly to labor.

Miss Sears Praises Skill of Women in Horse Show Jumping

Miss Eleanora Sears, athlete and horsewoman, is much pleased with the New York Horse Show. She thinks the jumping classes of ladies' saddle horses the most exciting and that the showing is remarkable, considering that this is only the second season of the horse show where fences are taken by women riders. Here is what she has to say:

In the last decade the lady and the horse were inseparable. The high jumps by such expert horsewomen as Miss Marion Holloway gave dash and thrill to the horse show. Then came the years when men alone rode over the obstacle course. Last year, however, the bars were once more put up for the women riders and, with that as a try-out, we have succeeded this year in having an excellent class of such riders.

There is one improvement that could be made. The first jump is painted white—the same color as the inner circle of the fence to the arena. When the horse approaches I notice that he always hesitates before leaping. This is because he does not see this obstacle until directly upon it.

Nearly every horse hits this fence, whereas he clears by a goodly margin the rail fence jumps on the other side of the arena.

I suggest that the fence at the Madison avenue side of the arena be painted green or at least a colored curtain be draped over it when the jumping classes are summoned for trial.

LITCHFIELD IN COURT, PLEADS GUILTY

Wilford J. Litchfield, a college graduate and historian, whose independent means allowed him to go extensively into New England history and genealogy, and at whose apartments in the Hotel Navarre Fred N. Whittier, was found dead on October 28, pleaded guilty today to the indictment charging him with being an immoral person. The case was called in the Superior Court before Judge Brown. Litchfield appeared in court faultlessly attired, and looked at the Judge with a nonchalant air, showing at no time any nervousness. The court room was crowded with his acquaintances.

Famous Berlin Specialist Praises Consumption Remedy

Dr. Hugo Tausig Has a Good Word for Preparation Lately Brought to America.

Less than two years ago a Swiss preparation, called Sirolin, was first brought to America. This preparation had become quite famous abroad as an aid in treating diseases of the lungs.

Dr. Hugo Tausig of Berlin speaks of it as follows: "I have found that Sirolin, even in the absence of the dietetic-hygienic method of treatment which is so important nowadays, produced such beneficial results that I am sure Sirolin must rank as the leading remedial agent in Tuberculosis of the lungs and in the treatment of minor bronchial affections."

This faith in Sirolin has been borne out since by its wonderful success in this country, and sufferers from diseases of the lungs have found great relief by its use.

Information about Sirolin can be secured in this country from the Sirolin Co., 228 West Broadway, New York City. Riker-Jaynes Drug Stores and all leading druggists are distributing Sirolin with considerable success.

WELLESLEY GIRL ANNOUNCES TROTH

At an ushers' dinner given last night by Miss Florence Foster Besse on the eve of her marriage, the engagement of her sister, Miss Edith N. Besse, to Mr. Edwin P. Holmes of Brookline was announced. Miss Besse is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman W. Besse, prominent in Springfield. She is a member of the senior class of Wellesley College. Mr. Holmes is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin B. Holmes of Brookline. He is a graduate of Harvard University, class of 1910, and a member of the firm of Parker, Holmes & Co. of Boston.

Boston Girl Talks in Sign Language to Arabs in Africa

When Sir William Ramsay read in the papers today of the experience of Miss Gertrude Cramer, he said:

"Oh, there—I told you so!"

The value of his sign language has been vindicated, for Miss Cramer, who has just returned from a motor trip through Africa, had recourse to signs when her motor broke down and a group of Arabs were the only rescuers in sight.

Miss Cramer and the other members of her party used signs to express their needs to the Arabs. As a result, one of the natives went back to the nearest town and brought some mules and the car was rescued in triumph.

Suggestion to the Ramsay-ite editor: Why don't you run a contest on how to say:

"Our auto has broken down. Get a mule to drag us to town."

BALLOON WEDDING IN AIR ROMANCE

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 21.—High up in a captive balloon Jack O'Connell, aeronaut and naval militiaman, and Miss Stella B. Baxter, a Springfield, Mo., girl, were married here. O'Connell, who is twenty-one years old, met his bride through a visit to the captive balloon.

INSTALL JUDGES OF NEWSBOYS' BOARD

The newly elected schoolboy judges who will comprise the Boston Newsboys' Trial Board, were installed at the Newsboys' Club house at No. 277 Tremont street. Chief Justice Harvey H. Baker of the Boston Juvenile Court inducted the boy judges into office. They are Captain Joseph Manivitch of No. 54 Billerica street; Captain Samuel Mednick of No. 54 Leverett street, West End, a pupil at the Washington, and Captain Max Appel of No. 50 Poplar street.

Salves Can't Cure Eczema

Dr. Evans, ex-Commissioner of Health, says: "There is almost no relation between skin disease and the blood." The skin must be cured through the skin. The germs must be washed out, and so salves have long ago been found worthless. The most advanced physicians of this country are now agreed on this, and are prescribing a wash of wintergreen, thymol and other ingredients for eczema and all other skin diseases. This compound is known as D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema.

Dr. Holmes, the well-known skin specialist, writes: "I am convinced that the D. D. D. Prescription is as much a specific for eczema as quinine for malaria. I have been prescribing the D. D. D. remedy for years." It will take away the itch the instant you apply it. You can get enough for 50c to prove this beyond a doubt.

In fact, the manufacturers are so certain of what D. D. D. will do for you that they will be glad to let you have a $1 bottle on their guarantee that it will cost you nothing unless you find that it does the work.

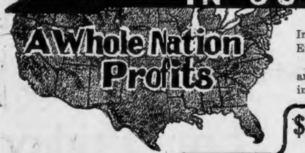
The Supreme Test of this Great Chain of Stores comes FRIDAY

IN OUR SALE OF NATIONAL IMPORTANCE



We told you Sunday that, in planning this great sale of National Importance, Mr. Siegel believed that the time was ripe to show New England people the real power of this store to undersell.

The sale is proving a revelation in the wonderful savings it affords, and in the tremendous throngs it is attracting, but the real test of selling supremacy comes Friday.

Friday Is Bargain Day in Boston and nearly every big store will have made their best competitive effort to meet our National Offerings—so it is on this day —FRIDAY—that thrifty shoppers can best judge the relative purchasing power of "the Siegel Chain of Stores," as compared to best efforts of a "single store" with its limited buying facilities. The Henry Siegel Store will "loom up" in a big way tomorrow in a "Bargain-giving test," with the shrewdest shoppers in New England as the judges.

The Siegel Chain of Stores:
One in Boston
One in Chicago
Two in New York

STRANGE HOLDUP IN FEDERAL PROBE OF GRAND TRUNK R. R. DEAL

MORGAN INTERESTS SAID TO HAVE 'PHONED TO WASHINGTON TO HALT INQUIRY.

between the Grand Trunk and the New Haven railroads created no surprise in New England.

It is the history of the Wickersham and the Taft administration repeating itself with respect to the lawlessness of the New Haven Railroad.

During the last days of President Roosevelt's administration District Attorney French, then acting under Attorney-General Bonaparte, at an acute crisis in a struggle of the wiser people of Massachusetts against the attempt of the New Haven to get control of the Boston & Maine, begun proceedings in the United States Court against the New Haven for violating the Sherman anti-trust law in its purchases of street railways and of controlling interest in the Boston & Maine.

Attorney-General French is a courageous and independent public servant. He was proceeding with the utmost diligence to prepare the evidence against this cantankerous railroad, with the approval of President Roosevelt and Attorney-General Bonaparte.

Mr. Mellen and the entire New Haven group were struck with dismay at the proceedings of the government in this case.

The vigor which District Attorney French prepared for the trial of the New Haven and the overwhelming mass of evidence which he was gathering filled with hope the men in Massachusetts and New England who foresaw the catastrophe which would come to this community by the permanent control of the Boston & Maine by the New Haven.

Suit Was Called Off.

Then came the retirement of President Roosevelt and Attorney-General Bonaparte and the beginning of the Taft and Wickersham administration under the solemn pledge to the American people that they would be faithful to the policies of the Roosevelt regime.

The first act of disloyalty, the first intimation of apostasy on the part of Taft and Wickersham to the Roosevelt policies occurred in relation to this case. Wickersham, after consulting District Attorney French, ordered him forthwith to dismiss the suit against the New Haven.

The inside story of the abandonment by the Taft administration of its duty in this regard illustrates how the people are circumvented by faithless public servants and how easy it is for powerful corporations having such public men under their influence to get what they want.

The New Haven made a deal with ex-Governor Draper and the Republican leaders by which Massachusetts was to give a left-handed sanction to the New Haven's control of the Boston & Maine through the creation of the Boston Holding Company, which was to be controlled by the New Haven and which in turn was to own a controlling number of the shares of the Boston & Maine Railroad stock.

It was arranged that when this control was thus consummated, it would be the excuse of the government to abandon the proceedings against the New Haven upon the pretext that Massachusetts having approved of it, there was nothing left to do.

Pledges Were Violated.

This arrangement was carried out, notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Wickersham, as a lawyer, knew full well that the Legislature of Massachusetts had nothing whatever to do with the enforcement of the Sherman anti-trust law which the New Haven was violating then and is today; and nothwithstanding the fact that the States of New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island and Connecticut were equally interested with Massachusetts in stopping the unlawful aggressions of this railroad, which was violating a national and not a State law, the enforcement of which was the sworn duty of President Taft and Attorney-General Wickersham, because they were national and not State officers.

This act of treason to the public interests, of faithlessness to their political pledges and disloyalty to the policies of Mr. Roosevelt, who alone gave President Taft his nomination and election, was the beginning of the decline and the fall of the Taft administration. Other acts like these followed and retribution has stalked on their tracks.

This last act of Attorney-General Wickersham in halting the investigation of the deal between the Grand Trunk and the New Haven on the flimsy excuse that the New Haven officials have graciously offered to submit their books and records to the government for examination, is taken to indicate that the Taft and Wickersham administration proposes to be consistent to the end.

FEDERAL GRAND JURY PROBE IS HALTED BY WASHINGTON ORDERS

Orders from Washington, it was discovered today, have halted indefinitely the Federal Grand Jury investigation in New York, of the agreement between the New Haven and Grand Trunk railroads, by which competition between the two roads will be stifled, and the New Haven's monopolistic control of New England's commerce will be still more strongly entrenched.

The right-about-face conduct of the Department was as abrupt as it was mysterious. Subpoenas had been served on J. Pierpont Morgan and most of the fellow directors of the master financier; and it was understood by Wall Street that he was to appear before the Grand Jury in the Postoffice building today.

Another New Haven director, whose appearance before the Grand Jury was expected to arouse an uneasy sentiment in certain circles of the financial district, was William Rockefeller. Next to Mr. Morgan the Rockefeller interests in the New Haven are the most powerful.

The other New York directors for whom subpoenas were issued were George McCulloch Miller, Lewis Cass Ledyard, Mr. Morgan's legal arm in a host of corporations; George F. Baker, president of the First National Bank, the head of the Morgan chain of banking institutions, and Charles M. Pratt, who like William Rockefeller, made his first millions out of Standard Oil.

It is said that immediately after these powerful financiers had been summoned to tell what they knew about the New Haven's methods of dominating New England's commerce, the long-distance telephone wires to Washington were used effectively.

Representations are said to has been made to the Department of Justice that Mr. Morgan and Messrs. Rockefeller, Pratt, Ledyard and Baker knew nothing of the executive administration of the New Haven. Passenger and freight questions and the arrangements between the New Haven and other railroads were all left to C. S. Mellen, the New Haen's president.

Wise Ordered to Halt.

The result was that after being subpoenaed Mr. Morgan, Mr. Rockefeller and their associate directors were informed that they need not appear before the Grand Jury today.

Word was sent from Washington to United States Attorney Wise in New York that the whole investigation was indefinitely postponed. Mr. Wise would not discuss the subject in any way. At the offices of the directors in New York the uniform answer to all questions was: "All statements must come from the Department of Justice."

From an authoritative source it was learned that at no time was the investigation placed in the charge of District Attorney Wise. All that he had been asked to do was to issue the subpoenas in his district. No papers or other documents were turned over to him, and until Tuesday Mr. Wise, it is said, expected that a special attorney-general would be sent from Washington to conduct the Grand Jury inquiry.

It was learned today that a copy of the agreement which was signed by President Mellen of the New Haven and given to President Chamberlin of the Grand Trunk, for ratification by the directors in London contained the following provisions:

Provisions of the Agreement.

That the agreement shall continue for the next twenty-five years.

That there shall be an exchange of traffic by the Grand Trunk, the Central Railroad of Vermont and the Boston & Maine over the lines between Brattleboro and Windsor and White Junction.

That there shall be a joint traffic between the Grand Trunk and New Haven that will give the Grand Trunk entrance to all important points of the New Haven' system over the New Haven tracks.

That the Grand Trunk will be reimbursed for the cost of purchasing rights of way and railroad sites, an expenditure approximating $4,000,000.

The sudden termination of the Grand Jury inquiry into the alleged compact of the New Haven and Grand Trunk systems caused a profound sensation among the smaller bankers of Wall street. Some of them had been informed the inquiry was likely to lead to disclosing the great money power behind the New Haven, and prove whether or not it was true that J. P. Morgan dominated every activity of the great system.

Untermyer Hurries to Washington.

The fact that Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the Congressional Money Trust Investigating Committee, made a hurried visit to Washington, where he has been in conference with the Department of Justice and the representatives of Rhode Island, Massachusetts and New Hampshire, created the impression that evidence obtained by Mr. Untermyer of the Morgan domination of the New Haven would be turned over to the Attorney-General. At Mr. Untermyer's office it was said he was expected back in New York today.

The directors outside of New York, for whom subpoenas were issued, and who since have been excused from testifying, are: President C. S. Mellen, Nathaniel Thayer, Amory A. Lawrence and Alexander Cochrane, of Boston; Charles F. Brooker, Ansonia, Ct., and George F. Brush, James S. Hemingway, A. Heaton Robertson and Frederick F. Brewster, of New Haven.

Explains Morgan's Interest.

An official of the New Haven, speaking for Mr. Morgan, said:

> I can swear, if it comes to putting me on oath, that Mr. Morgan has had nothing to do with the proposed agreement between the Grand Trunk and the New Haven. Mr. Morgan, while deeply interested in the road, does not bother himself with its executive management, its passenger and freight business, its traffic agreements. His banking house handles its securities and helps float its bond issues and notes, as, for example, the $40,000,000 issue of notes, announcement of which was made today.
>
> It is my information that President Hays of the Grand Trunk, who perished on the Titanic, conceived the plan of extending this British-Canadian road into New England, and that, although the London directors did not favor the scheme, they acquiesced to it out of deference to Mr. Hays. Mr. Hays died, and Mr. Chamberlin, his successor, decided he would follow the wishes of the big British financiers behind the Grand Trunk, and he accordingly entered into negotiations with the New Haven to dispose of the project.

Monopoly Strangles Trade.

A New York dispatch says a prominent merchant of Providence, stopping at a Fifth avenue hotel, told what the business men of New England think of the Grand Trunk's surrender by saying:

> New England, and especially Rhode Island, is in the grip of a railroad monopoly, which prevents commercial growth. Providence would become a great seaport if it could have more than one railroad system as an outlet. Even the steamship lines and the trolley lines have been gobbled up by the "Consolidated," as we speak of the railroad in New England.
>
> When the Grand Trunk engineers began surveying rights of way and workmen began tearing down houses and bridging streets we hoped for industrial liberty. Imagine our chagrin to learn that at last the "Consolidated," true to its old policy, had headed off competition and reasserted its monopoly.

YALE NEWS URGES PUBLIC MOVE TO HALT NEW HAVEN

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Nov. 21.—The Yale Daily News today takes an editorial fling at the New Haven road, in part as follows:

"For years all Yale—with the public at large—has endured in humble silence the greedy selfishness and inefficiency of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad. It is high time that public sentiment be aroused against that corporation.

"With serene disregard for the comfort and safety of its passengers it has climbed the steps of monopoly to a throne of railroad dictatorship in this section of the country; and the public is entirely at its mercy.

"Its antiquated wooden cars, its forlorn equipment, its miserable service, brand the New Haven road—the only road between two of our largest cities—as among the least efficient in the country.

"If its effort and expenditures aim to insure a further monopoly—like the alleged connivance with the Grand Trunk—they are not directly improving its usefulness.

"Even the uncomfortable inefficiency could be overlooked if the road would stop jeopardizing and destroying human life.

"The danger of travelling on this road has become so real that one cannot undertake a journey to New York without a shudder."

MR. WICKERSHAM EXPLAINS SUDDEN HALT OF INQUIRY

Attorney-General Wickersham at Washington made the following statement about the postponement of the Federal Grand Jury investigation of the Grand Trunk fiasco:

> The Attorney-General had directed a Grand Jury inquiry in New York into the alleged agreement between the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company and the Grand Trunk Railway Company before the visit to him of the Rhode Island and Massachusetts officials. He had also written to President Mellen of the New Haven road and President Chamberlin of the Grand Trunk Railway, asking for an explanation. These gentlemen have offered full access to their records.
>
> It was felt that a full and careful examination of the matters offered by the railroads and of the statements made by the Rhode Island and Massachusetts officials and of the sources of information suggested by them should first be made, and for this reason, and this reason alone, the Grand Jury inquiry was suspended for the time being.
>
> The Attorney-General has directed that the fullest investigation be made and is determined that the matter be probed to the bottom. Unless the investigation results in the complete disclosure of all the facts the matter will be taken up with the Grand Jury.

Chairman Macleod of the Massachusetts Railroad Commission when shown the Attorney-General's statement, said:

> That clears the situation. The burden now rests squarely on the shoulders of the New Haven and the Grand Trunk. The public will get all the information and we will know the true situation.
>
> The question for the Department of Justice to solve is whether there is any connection between the agreement entered into between the two roads relative to trackage and the cessation of work on the Grand Trunk lines. Neither Mr. Mellen nor Mr. Chamberlin is apt to have left any latchstrings hanging out for the investigators to pull, but Mr. Wickersham has proved by his statement that he intends to follow all trails to their end.

Exceptions Taken.

Both Attorney-General Wickersham and Mr. Adkins were greatly chagrined to learn that a sinister construction had been placed on the change of plans in New York, says a Washington dispatch.

Of this Mr. Adkins said:

> We had not thought that any such construction could or would be placed on our action, but if such is the case, we hope the explanation of our act will correct that impression.

Sharp issue with the Attorney-General's office was taken by one of the New England Railway Commissioners, who has been investigating the case.

"The reason given for the postponement," he said, "is very similar to the excuses given by President Chamberlin for having stopped building his road. Both are very plausible, but the truth in both cases is that operations have stopped. It seems that they have stopped to secure fuller information before they began an investigation. I had supposed that the object of the Grand Jury investigation was to secure information, and such an investigation with witnesses under oath is the best way to secure it."

Will C. Bliss, a member of the Railroad Commission of Rhode Island, who has been in Washington for several days in consultation with the Department of Justice, said:

> We are going to fight this thing through and will win in the end. If the investigation is stopped in New York we will find some other way to start it. We will present facts so strong that action must be taken on them. Besides, public opinion is with us. The people are so thoroughly aroused that public sentiment will force the railroads to abandon their agreement or make the law punish them for violating the Sherman anti-trust act

DRAW INDICTMENTS AGAINST HEADS OF NEW HAVEN ROAD

GOVERNMENT AGENTS CONTINUE TO QUESTION R. R. CHIEFS ABOUT AGREEMENT.

BRIDGEPORT, Ct., Nov. 21.—Grand Juror Henry R. Sherwood of Westport and Assistant State's Attorney Galen Carter of Stamford are drawing indictments against officers of the New Haven road, based upon the finding of Coroner John J. Phelan in the Westport wreck of October, which killed seven persons, including four women relatives of Anthony H. Brady of New York.

The coroner found that the road was guilty of negligence in having maintained a short crossover in spite of the recommendation of the Interstate Commerce Commission, which after the Federal wreck in Bridgeport in July, 1911, recommended the installation of long crossovers.

Mr. Sherwood said he had a conference with State's Attorney Judson before the latter left for Florida, and in pursuance with their understanding, he is to prepare the complaints and Mr. Judson will be ready to begin prosecution upon his return from the South, December 3.

Men's Clothing

That Is Well Made and Distinctive

Men's Suits
$25 to $50

Ulsters and Top Coats
$25 to $75

When men set out to buy clothing they generally have a well-defined idea about what they want and where they expect to get it.

We know that no other ready-to-wear clothing in Boston is made exactly as ours is made, NO MATTER HOW SIMILAR IT MAY APPEAR on the surface.

One reason for this is because the tailors who do our work will not make the same kind of clothing for any other store. Another is because it COSTS MORE FOR THE EXTRA MERIT WE PUT INTO THE MAKING, more than any other house would care to pay without asking more at retail than we do.

This means that there is more reason for men buying clothing here than the simple fact that it is a clothing store.

It means that men know that they can get here the advantages of—

—INDIVIDUALITY

Because the styles are our own and the making is after our specifications, and both are quite safe from duplication.

—FASHION

Our clothing is modeled after the approved American and English styles and has every new fashion touch.

—VALUE

Our prices are not low enough to force the quality down, nor so high as to place suits of excellence beyond the reach of the average man.

CALLS MISS ELKINS VENUS

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Florenz Ziegfeld, who has made a great fortune in staging theatrical productions in which beautiful women were the predominating figures, visited the horse show. He saw Miss Catherine Elkins and picked her at once as a Venus. He said:

> Fifteen minutes after I entered the garden I was struck by the beauty of Miss Elkins. I wished to be fair to the remaining thousands of women who were present, therefore I went around the arena, up and down the aisles, and even to the gallery. I saw no other woman who could equal her for wonderful physical charm.
>
> Miss Elkins stands out as genuine. She is a typical American woman of refinement and beauty.

After a two years' term of office as president of the General Motors Company, during which time a successful reorganization has been accomplished and the big company re-established on a profitable and stable basis, Thomas Neal is relinquishing the presidency and will become chairman of the board of directors.

In the Fall of 1910, when the big company was refinanced and the executive offices moved from New York to Detroit, the financial interests supporting the company realized the necessity of securing as president a man of very broad business experience. Mr. Neal was approached and urged to take the office and he accepted with the understanding that, at such time as the business was re-established on a satisfactory basis, he be permitted to retire from the arduous duties of chief executive. That such time has arrived is best indicated by the financial report of the company, recently issued to the stockholders, showing the business to be on a splendid financial basis, with a net earning of over seventeen per cent. on the common stock during the past year. Although Mr. Neal is retiring from the presidency, he purposes to retain his connection with the company and will serve in a definite and official capacity as chairman of the board of directors.

Under Mr. Neal's administration, the General Motors Company has concentrated its manufacturing operations at plants where large volume of production is possible. The result of this policy has been to make every plant an earner.

C. W. Nash, manager of the big Buick plant at Flint, will succeed Mr. Neal as president.

CREW HAS THRILLING FIGHT ON DECK WITH 200-POUND PORPOISE

A six-foot porpoise, weighing over 200 pounds, gave the crew of the forty-foot fishing steamer Fortunata a thrilling two-hour battle before it was finally subdued. When the steamer pulled into T wharf today the carcass of the big fish was placed on exhibition and the crew unfolded the story of the fight.

The vessel was passing Minot's light late last night, loaded with herring. The crew were in the galley when the porpoise leaped from the sea to the deck of the steamer. Immediately there was action. With gaffs and nets the crew tried to trap the fish, intending to bring it to the municipal aquarium. After a struggle that exhausted the five men it was necessary to kill the unexpected caller.

COUNTESS SZABO STRANGLER'S VICTIM, SWEARS DOCTOR

GOSHEN, N. Y., Nov. 21.—Countess Rosa Menschik Szabo, for whose murder Attorney Burton W. Gibson is on trial for his life here, didn't drown, but was strangled to death, was the declaration made under oath today by Dr. A. P. Hasking, assistant county physician of Hudson County, N. J.

Dr. Hasking was present when Dr. Otto H. Schultze, coroner's physician for New York County performed the autopsy upon the woman who met her death while boating with Gibson July 16.

"My opinion is," he said, "that death was caused by asphyxia from strangulation produced by force from without on the upper part of the throat. This damaging testimony did not seem to worry Gibson.

TELLS EVIDENCE AGAINST HICKEY

Kruck, a New York newsboy, ten years ago.

Hickey, protesting that he is innocent of the crime charged against him, asked that he be guarded against attack if taken back to Lackawanna. He relizes that feeling in that town runs high against him.

Wesley C. Dudley, District Attorney of Erie County, and Chief of Police Gilson of Lackawanna have conferred with Hickey, and have told him something of the evidence they have against him, they declare. It was after they did that that Hickey declared his innocence.

Innocent, He Declares.

"I am innocent," he said. "I may be a drunkard, but I am not a murderer. I do not fear the outcome of a fair trial, but I fear the people of Lackawanna."

District-Attorney Dudley has compiled a chronology of the Buffalo case since the day Joseph Josephs was murdered—October 12, 1911. On that day, according to the District Attorney, Hickey did not work. He was in the employ of the Rogers-Brown Iron & Steel Company. He worked the day previous to and the day following the murder.

For two hours before the Josephs boy met death Hickey was dividing his time equally among three saloons in Ridge road, Lackawanna, according to Dudley. This is Dudley's story of the crime and the case against Hickey as it has been worked up He said:

> About 4:30 in the afternoon of October 12, 1911, Joseph's boy rushed into the little candy store at No. 119 Ridge road, Lackawanna, next door to McGovern's saloon, and asked for a penny's worth of candy. The storekeeper wondered where he had obtained the penny, for his father was not in the habit of giving him even such small sums. But the boy ran out before he could be questioned No one who knew him ever saw him alive again.

Clew in Switchman's Tale.

> A little before this time Fred Fowler, a switchman on the street car line, stationed near the neighborhood, had been watching the peculiar actions of a man who was going from one saloon to another in the neighborhood. Fowler watched the man closely, believing him to be a spotter for the street car company and is willing to swear to the man's identity. This man, the District Attorney and the police believe, was Hickey.
>
> Hickey at the time was employed at the Rogers, Brown & Co.'s steel works, but it has been ascertained that he was not at work that day.
>
> As the days went by and the search failed to uncover any clew to the boy's whereabouts, his parents became nearly frantic. The mother's hair in a few days turned from black to white.
>
> On October 30, just eighteen days after the boy had disappeared, Chief Gilson received an anonymous letter, mailed in Buffalo, which was a complete and detailed confession of the murder of "Joey" Josephs, as his playmates called him, and also contained a description of the spot where, the letter said, the child's body might be found—in a cesspool behind McGovern's saloon.
>
> Chef Gilson detailed Patrolmen Davis and Clancy to investigate. They found the place, gazed down in the dark hole and reported to the chief that they had found nothing.

Trail Lost, Then Found Again.

Two days later, on Dec. 1, Hickey threw up his job and went to the Keswick Colony of Mercy, near Whiting, N. J., where he had been once before, and placed himself under treatment for alcoholism.

Then, for the time being, the case seemed to lapse.

But in September of this year the anonymous letters and postal cards began to come to Chief Gilson, to the father of the boy, and some to Chief Regan of Buffalo. They were nearly all alike and told how the writer had strangled little Joey Josephs and hidden his body in the cesspool.

At last, after five such cards, all mailed the same day, Chief Gilson decided to drag the pool. In it were found the remains of the body of Joey Josephs.

The cards, mailed November 9, came from Boston, but a few days later Chief Gilson received another, mailed from New York, which read, "regarding the matter concerning which I have written you, will be in your office tomorrow to give myself up." This card, unlike all that preceded it, was signed "R. Dennisson."

Handwriting Like His.

By Hickey's own admission he was working in Boston up to November 11, and on that day arrived in New York. The last card was mailed in New York November 12. Moreover, the police say, the name "R. Dennisson" is that of a man who worked in the same steel mill with Hickey in Lackawanna.

After the discovery of the boy's body on Saturday, November 9, Talmage Binns, foreman in the steel works, told the police that Hickey had been once before under suspicion for the murder of little Michael Kruck in Central Park, this city, in 1902, and that John Jepson, at that time superintendent of the Lackawanna coke ovens, had letters which Hickey had written to him.

Madame de Thebes Predicts Wars and Catastrophes for 1913

PARIS, Nov. 21.—Madame De Thebes' 1913 almanac was made public today, giving these predictions:

Paris will be the scene of a terrible theatre fire; the German Emperor will come to Paris, but not as King; Bulgaria will play a stupendous role in European politics; the Prince of Wales will reign; the Pope will die; French troops will rush to the frontier; Poland will be freed; Italy will witness an upheaval and may have a new King; the marriage of the Queen of Luxembourg will be made and it will astonish the world and damage France's political interests.

BOSTON POLICE HUNT LOST BOY

ably attract the criminal as affording the safest place to hide the evidence.

Several civilians interested in the police postcard communications and in the finding of the O'Connor boy and others who are missing have joined the police in the search of Chestnut Hill.

The writer of the card to the police about Chestnut Hill gave no particular location as to where the body would be found. This was unlike the information that came to the Buffalo police eighteen days after the Lackawanna boy disappeared.

Hunt Boston Man.

The Buffalo police were told where the body could be found. They made a search, but found nothing. It was after a year had passed and they had received more communications, naming the place, that they made a second search and found the little boy's body.

Besides the search on Chestnut Hill, the police are looking for the writers of the cards they have received. One man in particular, who is said to have attacked a boy in Boston, is being sought.

The Brookline police are looking into an occurrence reported yesterday that came to their attention in which a boy was chased by a strange man.

Newsboy Flees Stranger.

William Burke, a newsboy, was delivering papers near the depot. He noticed that a man seemed to be following him about closely.

The stranger purchased a ticket and then followed the newsboy out on to Chestnut Hill avenue. The latter became frightened and started to run, whereupon the stranger called to him and started to give chase.

The boy turned back to the Reservoir depot, and from there called up his father, who is a fireman. The father notified the police.

REPORT 300 KILLED BY TIDAL WAVE

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Nov. 21.—At least 300 persons were killed in the hurricane and tidal wave which devastated the western end of this island, according to reports received by the government today. Ten thousand are homeless, and the damage is conservatively estimated at $7,500,000. Meagre advices from the zone of destruction which are trickling in over shattered telegraph wires indicate that the death list may go to 1,000. The storm is still raging, but its intensity is decreasing.

Martial law enforced by 300 artillerymen was declared by the government today at Savanna La Mar and Lucea, where the full force of the destructive elements was felt. The government is distributing shelter tents, blankets and provisions among the homeless. Many ships were sunk off Montego Bay.

New Haven's Loan of $40,000,000 Taken by Morgan & Company

The New Haven Railroad's new loan of $40,000,000 in one-year, 5 per cent. notes has been quickly floated. The entire loan has been taken up. The banking house of J. P. Morgan & Co. handled the issue in New York. The Boston end was taken care of by Lee, Higginson & Co. and F. S. Moseley & Co.

The offering price was 99½, but the demand was so great that the larger part of the notes sold in New England went at an increase of ⅛ to ¼. The New Haven Road is reported to have paid 5½ per cent. for its money, in addition to whatever J. P. Morgan received as fiscal agent for the system.

The large part of the money raised by this loan will be used, it is understood, to pay maturing obligations.

Dr. Hartman Describes the Phrase, Systemic Catarrh

DR. S. B. HARTMAN

I received a letter from a good housewife of this state. She had been reading my last article on chronic catarrh. Her letter reads in part:

"Dear Doctor Hartman: — I was very much interested in your article on catarrh. I see by your explanation that catarrh is liable to affect any organ of the body, that it can assume the symptoms of a great many different kinds of disease. There was one form of catarrh, however, that you did not mention. I would like your opinion on it. I have heard it somewhere that there is a disease known as systemic catarrh. What do you know about it, and what would you advise?"

My dear Madam:—I think I was the originator of the term systemic catarrh. At least I had never seen it in print until I began to use it. Systemic catarrh describes a condition of the system closely resembling auto intoxication, or self poisoning. The catarrhal organs happen to be so located that the discharge of mucus cannot occur freely. It may be the stomach, or kidneys, or pelvic organs. Now if this vitiated, poisonous mucus cannot escape freely it will be absorbed by the blood vessels and carried into all parts of the system. It is Nature's attempt to get it out of the system through the kidneys. But in the effort to rid the organ of the poisonous mucus Nature is unintentionally poisoning the whole system. This is what I call systemic catarrh.

We hear often today the term auto intoxication, which refers to a condition of the bowels. The bowels being clogged up, they ferment and become poisoned. The system attempts to rectify the trouble by absorbing the poison and carrying it out through the kidneys. The result is sickness, called auto intoxication. It is exactly this kind of thing that happens in systemic catarrh. The catarrhal secretions that do not escape by the internal organs are absorbed by the blood vessels and carried through the system, and the result is systemic catarrh.

The remedy I believe to be Peruna. I believe there is no remedy in the world that has relieved so many people as Peruna. The disease is not always known as systemic catarrh. Sometimes it is called dyspepsia. Sometimes nervous prostration. Sometimes it assumes the form of anemia, and then again chronic malaria, also walking typhoid fever.

All these conditions are fully described by the term systemic catarrh. It is especially prevalent during the typhoid season, September and October. I would not consider any other remedy than Peruna in such cases as these. Peruna is absolutely a perfect remedy for systemic catarrh.

All letters of inquiry answered promptly.

MEN'S STORE—A NOTABLE SALE

We have very special news to convey concerning things you'll buy. Therefore, there is large wisdom in your examining the items. Our justification in asking you to do this lies in the fact that you will acquire accurate information which, if acted upon, will save you a day's — or perhaps a week's—income, according to the extent of your purchases.

$2.50 NEGLIGEE SHIRTS
SPECIAL AT $1.65

Men's High-grade Pleated-bosom Negligee Shirts—Coat model, attached laundered cuffs, pleats extending down into the skirt; woven madras, Scotch designs on medium and dark grounds and two-toned Russian corded stripes on light grounds.

Colors! What of them? They are guaranteed not to fade or run.

The manufacturer had more $2.50 Shirts than he could sell. He reduced the price. We bought. You may buy them for $1.65.

$3.00 UNION SUITS
SPECIAL $1.45

A prominent manufacturer's salesroom samples of Ecru, Balbriggan, Ribbed Gray and Wool Union Suits. The assortment ranges up to and includes $3.00 qualities. It is values like these that make history for our Men's Store—history that keeps it pleasantly in the minds of thrifty buyers.

Mr. Old School Merchant would mix such lots with his regular stock and ask regular prices for them. Our policy is to give every advantage that we get. Hence these Union Suits at $1.45.

69c for $1.00 Shirts and Drawers, medium weight, jersey-ribbed worsted—which is the preference of so many men.

$5.00 BLANKET BATHROBES
SPECIAL AT $2.95

These Bathrobes are full of human interest because they supply very personal human need. Married men, keeping house or boarding; bachelors, apartmenting or hotel-ing — who merely have to step across a door sill or pick a chance to steal down a flight of stairs, or creep along the length of a hall to reach the bathroom, will find a Blanket Robe a cosy comfort. Many men are without one simply because its usefulness has never been directly forced upon their minds.

We are attempting to impress the psychology of Bathrobes upon your thought. Here's the economic side: Bathrobes made of soft, fleecy blankets—Jacquard figures in gray-and-Oxford, gray-and-red, blue-and-gray and other combinations; side pockets, mercerized neck cord and girdle; made to sell at $5.00; special at $2.95.

$2.00 PAJAMAS AT $1.29

Made of cheviot, winter weight, fancy braided edges, large pearl buttons; the kind you've always bought at $2.00; special at $1.29.

$1.00 DOMET FLANNEL PAJAMAS 85c

Domet flannel ministered to many personal needs long before pajamas reached America. You know the stuff—have known it long and favorably. The patterns that were selected for these Pajamas are neat and unobtrusive—pearl buttons and frogs.

75c DOMET FLANNEL NIGHT SHIRTS AT 59c

MATTIE HACKETT'S MOTHER WITNESS

Overcome by Tears as She Recites Details of Tragic Night at Readfield.

have elapsed since her favorite daughter was found strangled by the roadside, Mrs. Hackett is yet to be reconciled.

Mrs. Raymond remained calm. She looked steadily at the witness, but was apparently unmoved. She did not smile, but not once did she show emotion. It was the most dramatic scene of the trial.

Weeps as She Testifies.

Attorney-General Pattangall, conducting the examination for the State, asked Mrs. Hackett to state her full name.

"Edith F. Hackett," was the reply.

Q.—On the night when Mattie Hackett was murdered, what time did you leave home. A.—At 5 o'clock. I went over to Mr. Cole's. Emery, Earle and one of the girls (her children) followed me.

Q.—Did you know where your daughters Ethel and Winnie went?

A.—To the postoffice. Mattie remained at home. At 8 o'clock I learned of the murder. It was perhaps a little before 8.

Q.—What was the first thing to attract you attention?

A.—I was getting some chickens ready for market. I heard my husband shout. Then he rushed into the yard.

Q.—What did you do?

A.—I rushed down the road with the children.

Q.—When you reached the body, were the others there? A.—Yes, I could not run so fast.

Q.—What did the men do? A.—They carried my Mattie to our home.

Q.—How was she—what was the position of her body?

Mrs. Hackett was so overcome she could not answer for fully a minute.

Mrs. Raymond closely watched her every moment, but was unmoved.

Identifies Shirtwaist.

Mrs. Hackett identified the shirtwaist that Mattie wore at the time. She said the girl lay across the traveled part of the road.

Q.—Was the shirtwaist torn in front when you saw your daughter? A.—It was open.

Q.—Who took off Mattie's clothes?

A.—I did.

Q.—How old was Mattie?

A.—Sixteen and seven months.

Q.—How much did she weigh

A.—120 pounds.

Q.—Whose watch did Mattie have pinned to her waist?

A.—It belonged to Wilfred Abbott.

Q.—When did you see the watch?

A.—When I got there.

Q.—Was it returned to Mr. Abott?

A.—It was. We gave it to his mother.

The witness said: "It was a little after 9 o'clock that night when Dr. Milliken arrived after Mattie was found. The cord had been off her neck for about three-quarters of an hour."

"Can you explain in deail how the cord was tied?"

Mrs. Hackett was again overwhelmed with tears. Finally she replied she could not.

Congressman McGillicuddy began his cross-examination at this point.

Q.—Are you sure that it was about 7:55 when your husband told you of the murder? A.—I am positive. Mr. Cole looked at his watch.

Q.—When did Mattie come home from her work? A.—The Tuesday before the murder. Bert Raymond brought her home.

Q.—Did you hear any remarks between them at that time? A.—No.

Mattie Burned Letters.

Q.—Didn't she appear agitated and show Bert something? A.—No, she did not.

Q.—Did Mattie burn up a big batch of letters? A.—Yes; the day she was killed or the day before, she and I burned up letters.

Q.—How many were there? A.—A great many. She read them. They were from friends and relatives.

Congressman McGillicudy said it was not necessary to go into that. The witness under cross-examination did not change her testimony that was given under direct examination.

Attorney-General Pattangall recalled the witness.

Q.—Why did Mattie burn her letters? A.—She planned to go to Boston in a few days.

The witness was excused.

When Emery Hackett, brother of Mattie, was called to the witness stand, Mrs. Raymond held a consultation with her attorneys.

The witness said he was twenty-four. He corroborated the testimony of his mother relative to the time when his father informed them of the murder and as to how they found the body of his sister.

"What did you do?" asked the Attorney-General.

"I ran to the Nickerson house and called the doctor," said the witness.

Congressman McGillicuddy tried to shake witness on the time when his father told them of the murder. Witness said he was positive that it was about 8 o'clock.

About Crossing Field.

The State contends that Mattie was killed about 7:50. The defence is trying to show that the killing was much earlier. The witness admitted that Mrs. Cole accompanied him to the Nickerson house when he phoned for the doctor.

"We went across the fields," said the witness.

It is through this field that the State claims Mrs. Raymond crossed in her flight to her home after the murder. The imprints of women's shoes were found in this field the following morning.

Winnie Hackett, who was dressed in blue with a big black picture hat, related how with other members of her family she saw the body of her sister in the road. She said that her age is eighteen. Her testimony did not add anything to the government's case and was a repetition of the story told by previous witnesses.

"I had been to the postoffice," said the witness, "I arrived at the Cole house when mother ran out. I did not meet anybody on the road from the postoffice."

Nettie Hackett, who accompanied the previous witness to the postoffice, told the same story in court today as her sister. She looked several times at the defendant and the latter smiled. Mrs. Hackett was recalled to the stand and related how her husband accused the tramp Johnson of knowing about the murder.

First Accused Tramp.

"My husband treated the tramp roughly," said the witness. "My husband said, 'You tramps are responsible for this.'"

"Where did the tramp go," she was asked.

"Down to Nickerson," said the witness.

It is the plan of the defence to show that tramps were responsible for the murder.

Mrs. Hackett declard that although that was the first theory advanced, she was soon convinced that it was wrong.

Wilfred Abbott said that he was friendly with the Hackett children and he had taken Mattie to several places of amusement. On the day of the murder he had been at the Hackett place.

"Have you the watch you gave Mattie?"

"Yes."

Witness took the watch from his pocket. He said he lost it as he was leaving the Hackett place.

"Mattie found it," said the witness. "That is the reason why it was found on her the night of the murder."

Other Members of Slain Girl's Family Tell of Finding Victim's Body.

"Where were you on the evening of the murder?"

"Home."

Charles E. Stevens, proprietor of the Elmwood Hotel, said that he learned Mrs. Raymond was missing from her home about 7:45 on the night of the murder.

"I saw Bert Raymond go through his orchard three or four times to his home. He was looking for Mrs. Raymond."

It was in this orchard that the defendant claims she was seated during the time her husband searched for her. "Bert was greatly excited," added the witness.

Shoes Were Destroyed.

The witness declared that on Wednesday, the day previous to the murder, Mrs. Raymond wore tan shoes. These shoes were destroyed by the defendant a few days after the crime. The witness explained that the horse used by Raymond in his search for Mrs. Raymond was poorly shod and that the shoes were smooth and made peculiar tracks. Stevens removed the shoes the next day and gave them to Sheriff Ham because he knew the horse had been in several parts of the town the night before and that the shoes would be needed by the officers."

Called By Defence.

Congressman McGillicuddy, chief counsel for Mrs. Raymond, sprung a surprise today by summoning a witness for the defence, a man who for three days past has been under a summons from the State. The prosecuting attorneys had barely excused him from service as a witness when a deputy in the employ of the defence served him with a summons. He did not testify for the government.

The fifty odd women witnesses breathed easier today when Attorney-General Pattangall announced that they would not be asked their ages on the witness stand. The rebuff that Mr. Pattangall and Judge Whitehouse received from a defiant witness yesterday was enough.

"The age of women witnesses is not material in this case," said Mr. Pattangall.

'GREEN' COUNCIL DEFENDS TEAM

The Dartmouth Athletic Council, after an incomplete investigation of charges of intentional rough playing in last Saturday's game, with Harvard, has issued a statement replying to Dartmouth's critics.

The statement emphasizes the point made by "Bill" Reid, Harvard's former head coach, who declared that he, for one, saw nothing in the game which warranted such a severity of criticism.

"Incidents which showed an excess of zeal occurred, but they were not unnatural in a hard game, when a team feels that it has to redeem its reputation," he said.

The statement of the Dartmouth Athletic Council reads in part as follows:

> While the inquiry of the council is not completed, certain facts appear to be established. There were several instances during the contest where individuals on the Dartmouth team unquestionably overstepped the bounds of sportsmanlike play. In these particular cases, however, the offence was so awkward in execution that it is difficult to ascribe any premeditated or deliberate intent.
>
> If continued inquiry satisfies the council that the Dartmouth players players were too aggressive, it is believed that the reason will be found to lie, not in any intentional or deliberate act on the part of the players, but, on the contrary, in overzealousness brought about by pressure directed against members of the team by undergraduates, coaches, and the athletic council during the three weeks intervening between the Princeton and Harvard games.

Cases Up for Trial Eight Months After Filing, a New Record

Massachusetts courts are entering the lists as speed champions of the legal world.

A new State record for speedy trial was established when two cases went on trial yesterday which were entered only last March, only eight months ago. The cases were on the general list and were not advanced by motion.

Two and a half to three years, until recently, was the earliest time in which litigants could hope to get a trial. Last year a record was established when a case was tried a year after it was entered.

Now, in the ordinary course of events cases have been reached in eight months from the time they were entered and this despite the fact that during three of these months, in the Summer, no courts were sitting.

The first of the cases was a suit by Julia E. McGrath vs. the Boston Elevated.

U. S. MAY TAKE HAND IN STRIKE

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 21.—The militia pressed forward today into isolated points in the coal strike district, where conditions bordering on anarchy are said to exist.

The soldiers are the target of occasional rifle fire from the hillside.

Reports are current that the Federal government may take a hand in the situation. The Federal Grand Jury has convened and is said to have considered the matter of holding up trains carrying mail. It is even rumored that Federal troops may take a hand.

Reports tell of bands of men boarding trains and putting passengers through a thorough inspection. A number of persons have been severely beaten, some of whom were innocent travellers.

RED SOX QUARTET AND MASCOT HELP AT PARISH FETE

The Red Sox Quartet and Jerry McCarthy, the Red Sox mascot, played an important part in making the celebration of the fortieth anniversary of the establishment of St. Peter's Catholic Church, Meeting House Hill, Dorchester, the success it was. A parish reunion in Mechanics Building marked the closing night. Fully 2,500 attended.

The proceeds will be used in paying the debt caused by the building of the new parish hall now in course of construction on Bowdoin street.

Whist and an entertainment took the place of a grand march. About fifty tables were occupied. Besides the Red Sox Quartet and Jerry a number of little girls entertained with Scotch dances. This part of the program was under the direction of Henry Casey.

Charles Logue was chief marshal of the ball, assisted by William J. Hennessey. Edward J. O'Neil was floor director. His assistants were John T. Malloy, John J. Donovan, John J. Cunningham and Simon P. Dillon, who was chief of aids.

Greatest Robber of the Pay Envelope—Drink

A Rensselaer Woman Says Renova Means Full Pay Envelopes

This is her experience—her own story in her own words. "I hope you will excuse me for keeping your letter as long as I have, but as it was near time for my husband to be paid again, I thought it best to wait and see how he acted, as he only drinks on the day he is paid. I am thankful to say he came home sober two different pay days."

Has this any significance for the family that is deprived of necessities and comforts because some one spends half his pay on drink? The remedy the Rensselaer woman writes about is Renova and you can get it at Riker-Jaynes' and put it in his tea or coffee and he won't know a thing about it, for it is tasteless and absolutely harmless. If there's a drinker in your family get it—get it right away—give it to him secretly, any way at all—but give him Renova and see if very soon you're not the happiest family in the world.

If you'd like to try it—free—before you buy a whole package, write in confidence to the Renova Co., 204 Broadway, New York, for a sample and proofs of what Renova does for victims of intemperance.

TALKS SAVINGS BANK INSURANCE

How the savings bank insurance idea has grown in Massachusetts until there are 6,700 policies in force, representing $2,500,000, until four banks have established insurance departments and thirteen other banks have instituted agencies for these four, not to mention 150 unpaid agencies operated by Massachusetts employers, was [illegible] this afternoon to the students of Burdette College by Miss Alice H. Grady.

Miss Grady is financial secretary of the Massachusetts Savings Insurance League. She is probably better known as private secretary to Louis D. Brandeis, author of the Savings Bank Insurance Law, enacted in the Summer of 1907.

The announcement that the fifth year dividend on monthly premium policies was amount to 20 per cent. was one of the most interesting features in today's address by Miss Grady, who again called attention to the fact that the Commonwealth bears the "overhead" cost of the new idea in insurance, the savings banks furnish the machinery, public spirited employers act as the connecting medium and all the thrifty wage-earner is called upon to do is authorize the deduction every month, or every quarter, of the small amount necessary to provide for his old age or for the care of his loved ones in the event of his death.

Miss Grady said:

It is only six years since the time when if you wanted to insure your life (assuming that you are fifteen years of age) for, say, $200, you would have had to go to what is called an industrial insurance company and pay there 10 cents a week, or at the rate of $5.20 a year.

Under the savings bank insurance system this insurance would cost you 30 cents a month, or at the rate of $3.60 a year, an initial saving of $1.60 a year. In addition to which, our system being purely mutual, you would receive a dividend at the end of the first year equal to one month's premium, making the net cost of the insurance the first year $3.30, a saving over the old form of $1.90 the first year. But that is not all.

The policyholders being the only persons entitled to share in the profits of the business under the savings bank plan, it has been found that the second year dividend was greater than the first, the third year dividend greater than the second, and the fourth year dividend greater than the third, so that in the fifth year the holders of monthly premium policies in the savings banks are receiving a dividend equal to 20 per cent. of a year's premiums, which on this particular policy would amount to 72 cents, making the net cost of the insurance in the fourth year $2.88.

As evidence that savings bank life insurance meets a real need of the people, at the end of four years experience more than 6,700 policies are in force, representing more than two and a half million dollars. Four savings banks have established insurance departments and thirteen other savings banks have become public agencies for these four.

RUSSELL URGES TAKING B. & M.

Joseph B. Russell, retiring president of the Chamber of Commerce, has issued a statement in support of the bill to be introduced by Henry C. Long for the State to take control of the Boston & Maine. Mr. Russell said:

I have always had grave doubts about the wisdom of the Grand Trunk building into Boston, for this reason:

I have for some time believed that there is one, and so far as I know only one solution to our railroad problem, and that is the absolute separation of the Boston & Maine Railroad Company from the New Haven system.

The independent control of this railroad by the interests which it naturally should serve would solve nearly all our complications. If this were accomplished and the road managed solely in the interests of this section, it [illegible] the development of our [illegible] of new steamship companies and the Grand Trunk [illegible].

It is now within the power of the State of Massachusetts, through the option it holds, to acquire the controlling interest in the stock of the Boston & Maine Railroad Company from the Boston Holding Company. The exercise of this option will give to it what it can in no other way obtain, viz.: The control of certain trackage and property which [illegible] State [illegible] of a great [illegible] system connecting with the [illegible] of all sections, and with all the power that goes with such a system.

The natural flow of business over the Boston & Maine if independently managed is to and from Boston. The concentration of its business from Boston by steamer lines would be natural, and under an independent ownership would be competitive.

I do not know whether the Chamber of Commerce would endorse these views or not. They are given out only as my own personal opinions. I am proud of the system and what in its own natural territory it has done for the welfare of our State.

A SOUR, GASSY, UPSET STOMACH

"Pape's Diapepsin" Regulates Your Stomach and Ends Indigestion in Five Minutes.

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; your head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Diapepsin and in five minutes you truly will wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin, which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

FRIDAY ARROW SALE 236th

By stretching the meaning of the Friday Arrow Sale, we could make special purchases of discarded merchandise every week, and call them "Bargains" just because of low price. Then we could publish full page advertising in all the papers and probably crowd our store to the limit of its capacity every Friday. But then it would not be the Friday Arrow Sale as our customers know it—a weekly clearance of odd and broken lots, discontinued lines, etc., from our own high class stock.

Every item is a "Bargain" according to our definition of "Bargain", not because the price is low but because the quality is emphasized by low price.

King George Overcoats

A style originated by The House of Kuppenheimer, and now the reigning fad, not alone in Boston, but in all other great cities, especially New York.

With commendable judgment and enterprise, many other manufacturers have produced coats modeled along lines very similar to the "King George," but most of these reproductions lack the graceful lines and fine tailoring of the Kuppenheimer original, notwithstanding the fact that they usually cost more money.

At this Live Store—and here only—will you find the original and genuine "King George." It comes in a wide variety of the season's most popular fabrics and is priced just as low as if it were an ordinary style from an ordinary maker.

BOSTON LEADS IN ENLIGHTENED CREDIT

On Sept. 9, 1912, the Boston American published an editorial on Boston. It was a splendid editorial, one that ought to be read by every true Bostonian, young and old. It should be put into book form and placed before the boys and girls of our public schools and it would not do us old Bostonians any harm, either, if we kept the book on our library tables. It might wake us up and show us what a really great city Boston is. We quote part of the editorial and advise you to get the rest:—

There are many things about Boston that ALL Bostonians ought to know—and here we have in mind not the municipal Boston, but that GREATER BOSTON of 1,500,000 people.

THIS Boston is the FOURTH CITY IN THE UNITED STATES, THE TENTH IN THE WHOLE WORLD.

Within 100 miles of the Massachusetts State House there are 1,200 CITIES AND TOWNS; within fifty miles, MORE PEOPLE THAN CAN BE FOUND WITHIN THE SAME DISTANCE FROM ANY OTHER CITY IN THIS COUNTRY EXCEPT NEW YORK.

Boston is the second port of the country.

Boston is the largest market of hides and leather in the world.

Boston is the greatest fresh fish market in the United States.

Boston is the greatest wool market in the country.

Boston is the fourth greatest industrial district in the country.

Boston's industries are growing faster than those of any other large city in America, except New York.

Boston has more varied industries than any other American city.

Boston is the greatest shoe centre in the world.

Boston has one of the largest shipbuilding plants in the country.

Boston leads the United States in the manufacture of confectionery—quality as well as quantity.

Boston is the greatest chocolate manufacturing city in the country.

Boston stands first in the manufacture of rubber and elastic goods.

Boston has the finest watch factory in the world.

Boston has the most complete baking establishment in the country.

Boston is the leading textile centre in the country, second largest in the world.

Workmen employed in the industries which centre in Boston have an average earning power greater by 80 per cent. than that of the wage earners of the country at large.

And while this editorial did not mention the fact that a Boston man originated the most beneficial system of buying on credit, still it IS A FACT that a Boston man, N. SALLINGER, gave to Boston the now famous ORDER CHECK which permits the people to purchase on credit the necessities and luxuries of life whenever and wherever they like, without paying other than the ordinary cash prices. This is a piece of financiering for the people that was not mentioned in the above editorial, because, of course, it might be regarded as an advertisement. But, nevertheless, it is regarded by the heads of the Big Department Stores and the heads of our big banking and saving institutions as the best piece of financiering ever done for the benefit of the credit-buying public.

An analysis of the "ORDER CHECK" system of credit purchasing shows the benefits and advantages to be clearly on the side of the purchaser who uses the Order Check. To illustrate, take yourself for example. If it is not asking you to stretch your imagination beyond the breaking point—just fancy that your pockets are not full of money and that you really need something. You may not believe it, but this condition obtains among quite a few people, despite the fact that we have just had a very "PROMISING" election.

You have just read, say, an advertisement of some big store, wherein they have advertised some article of clothing, wearing apparel. It is just the thing you need—just the thing you must have for the Winter, BUT — there you are, BUT — you haven't the money, and it is an honest mark-down bargain, too. Price has been reduced from $35 to $25. It's a good, reputable store and their sales have never been questioned.

It's a clean and clear saving of $10 if you had the money. The store is probably just the store you would trade at if you had the price. Wouldn't you consider it a pretty piece of financiering for you if it could be arranged so that you could get that article on the day you wanted it, at the advertised bargain price, save that $10 and trade at your favorite cash store? Listen—you don't suppose the big stores want to lose your trade do you—just because you are temporarily embarrassed?—you don't suppose they want you to go to an Old Style Credit House that would not only get your business and the trade of thousands like you, but would also charge you a frightfully exorbitant price for an inferior article.

OVER 65,000 PEOPLE USE N. SALLINGER'S "ORDER CHECK" TO OBTAIN DIGNIFIED CREDIT

No—the Big Stores want your trade and you may buy what you like, money or no money. The "Order Check," originated by a Boston man, N. SALLINGER, will permit you to get your article without cash the day you want it—save you $10—trade at your own Cash Store, get their label on your clothing, and pay no more for your purchase than the regular advertised cash bargain price.

A very pretty piece of financiering for the public—one of the greatest Credit Buying Systems for the people ever invented. Over 65,000 people in Greater Boston use the Peoples Credit Co.'s ORDER CHECK—the greatest boon ever given to the credit purchasing public. But still there are thousands who have not yet thrown off the yoke of Old Style Credit Methods—MR. SALLINGER is waking the people up. He is making a big impression on the buying public. His methods are modern, honest, easily understood—his business is growing wonderfully. He says "All Things Come to Him Who Runs Around and Heads Them Off."

In Comparing the Old Style Credit Concerns with N. Sallinger's Modern "ORDER CHECK" System a Big Boston Newspaper Recently Said:—

Times have changed—methods have changed—systems have changed. This is the era of progress. We are no longer in the Dark Ages of the Credit Business. The bright sun of intelligence is shining upon the Credit World, and the inhabitants thereof are awakening to the wonderful advantages of the "Order Check" System of buying on credit.

The Old Style Credit System is no more.

It is a thing of the past—

The March of Progress in business passed over it and stamped it out—

Like all other old-style, worthless, inefficient institutions, it has failed to keep up to the times—Failed to "Make Good," and it has been toppled over into the Dead Sea of "Has Beens."

The Waters of Oblivion have closed over its head.

It sinks to the Bottom.

Never to rise again.

To the old-style Credit System, with its exorbitant prices for inferior values, we can all say cheerfully— "G-o-o-d Night."

N. SALLINGER SHOWS How to Shop on Credit at the Big Stores and Pay One Dollar Per Week

Our Inexpensive, Superior System Recognized

People have left the old style credit houses by the thousands, recognizing the advantages and savings which our superior system offers, if you have never bought on credit, put aside your prejudice and investigate our system. It appeals especially to the enlightened buyer, and although we have received the patronage of thousands who formerly purchased at the old style credit houses, yet the great majority of our customers, over 80%, never bought elsewhere on credit, which proves that the general public has recognized our inexpensive system, together with our high-grade method of conducting the credit business.

Every Consideration Shown Users of Order Check.

You have all your purchases charged at the regular cash bargain prices, just the same as your neighbor who pays cash. Every person, man or woman, using our order check at the stores, will receive every consideration accorded cash customers. As a matter of fact, however, our experience has been that our customers receive even more consideration than individual cash or charge customers of department and specialty stores, owing to the enormous amount of business which we give these stores, thus naturally commanding greater attention than would be accorded an individual buyer.

What My Order Check System Means to Those Who Wish Dignified Credit.

The Peoples Credit Company's now Famous Order Check is good for anything carried by the big department and specialty stores, and you have the combined stock of 52 stores from which to select. Beautiful Fall offerings of the department stores, specialty shops and millinery establishments are all within easy reach—lack of money no longer compels you to go without—and you need not go to the old style credit house, with its limited stock and unfair high prices. You make your purchases at the big stores—take advantage of their wonderful mark-down bargains. You pay just the same prices that cash customers pay at these stores, and besides you have the labels of the best cash stores on your clothing to show your friends and neighbors.

Wonderful Evolution in Credit Service.

It was very pleasing to me to have my credit service mentioned in one of our largest newspapers, as follows

"N. Sallinger has instituted a wonderful credit service in our city. It is a pleasure to obtain credit through the well-conducted offices of the Peoples Credit Company at 501 Washington street. Mr. Sallinger has surrounded himself with a corps of efficient assistants—men and women who possess in a great degree the art of accommodating and pleasing customers."

The Man Who Revolutionized the Credit Buying in Boston and New England.

If I were asked what one particular feature of my "order check" system of buying on credit appealed the strongest to the public, I would say it was that feature which gives the people an unlimited choice in the selection of stores at which to trade—People want to trade at their Favorite Department Stores or Specialty Shops, the stores that have the Best Sales, the Best Bargains, the Stores Where We All Want to Trade, the Best Stores—It is the fact that there are no restrictions in my order check system of Credit Buying—My customers have the combined stock of the department stores and specialty shops, with an aggregate of over twenty million dollars' worth of new stock, constantly changing—Fashions up to the last minute—This choice of selection is what appeals strongly to my customers.

The New Credit "Order Check" Opens Doors of Big Stores to People

In the pages of the Boston American in April, 1911, I first told in detail the story of the Peoples Credit Co.'s Order Check System of buying on Credit at the Department and other stores. I told at that time how the representatives of the Big Stores were co-operating with me to give the people an up-to-date system of buying on credit—a modern system that would open the doors of reputable houses to this credit trade and permit men and women who desired dignified accommodation credit to secure it through the order check, which permitted them to buy from the best houses at the regular advertised cash bargain prices. This "Order Check" system is a wonderful success. It has delivered the people who need credit out of the clutches of the Old Credit System of big prices and poor goods. It has permitted the people to buy where they like and take advantage of the Great Bargain Sales of the Big Stores, which are now open to the people on credit through The Peoples Credit Co.'s Order Check."

How Women Use The Order Check

Suppose, for instance, a woman wants a suit, coat, hat, skirt, in fact, anything at all. She reads the big bargain sale ads. of the big department and specialty stores; she sees that So and So, a big reputable house, is advertising a special sale of suits at a mark-down price. The woman wants to take advantage of this excellent bargain but she does not happen to have the cash. All she has to do is to come to the PEOPLES CREDIT CO. We give her an ORDER CHECK for the article at the bargain price amount, and she uses it at the store the same as cash. Thus she obtains what she wants at just the same price as her neighbor, who has cash to pay for it, and she has the privilege of paying for the bill at the rate of $1.00 per week. Besides this, she has the satisfaction of showing her friends and neighbors that she bought the goods at a regular cash store, and the cash store label is sewed on the garment. Is not this better than going to the ordinary credit house, with its antiquated system and paying the exorbitant prices for inferior goods?

Best Men's Clothing Now Bought on Credit

Under the old style credit system the man who bought clothing on credit was the most abused mortal on earth. The doors of the Best clothing houses were closed to him, and he was forced to buy inferior clothes of unknown makes at outrageously high prices from the ordinary credit houses.

Now all is changed. He can make his selection from the best brands of high-grade clothing, clothing with a national reputation, and buy them through the Peoples Credit Co. on credit for just the same cash price that the cash clothing houses charge.

PRIVATE OFFICES FOR THE USE OF CUSTOMERS—This year we have added several more private offices for our customers, where business may be transacted without the objectionable publicity of the old style methods of old style concerns.

N. SALLINGER RENEWS HIS AGREEMENT WITH THE MAKERS OF STANDARD BRANDS OF MEN'S CLOTHING

IN THE HEART OF THE CITY. MEN'S CLOTHING CREDIT EDITION, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1912 "DIFFERENT FROM THE REST."

WHAT MY CREDIT AGREEMENT WITH THE BIG CLOTHING MAKERS MEANS TO MEN

I RECEIVED the co-operation of the big department store people a few years ago when I started out to revolutionize the credit buying of Boston. By the use of the Peoples Credit Co.'s order check I made it possible for a woman to go into the big department store and buy on credit at the regular advertised cash bargain prices. By the use of the order check I delivered the people out of the clutches of the Old-Style Credit Houses.

Now I have the co-operation of the Biggest and the Best Makers of Men's Clothing in America and I am selling their Best Makes on credit for one dollar a week. I quote the following extract from my editorial on modern credit which appears today on the last page of the first section of this paper.

"Under the old style credit system, the man who bought clothing on credit was the most abused mortal on earth. The doors of the Best clothing houses were closed to him, and he was forced to buy inferior clothes of unknown makes at outrageously high prices from the ordinary credit houses.

"Now all is changed. He can make his selection from the standard brands of high-grade clothing, clothing with a national reputation, and buy them through the Peoples Credit Co. on credit for just the same cash price that the cash clothing houses charge."

N. SALLINGER RECEIVES THE CO-OPERATION of the BIGGEST and BEST MAKERS of MEN'S CLOTHING

I entered into an agreement with them last year to sell their high-grade Men's Clothing on credit, and I have renewed my agreement not to charge one cent more for their clothing than is charged by the cash stores who handle these famous brands.

It is the only agreement of its kind in America. I sell the standard brands of Men's Clothing on credit at cash prices—makes that you see advertised in the newspapers and magazines nationally and locally. I am bound by agreement with the manufacturers not to charge one cent more for these brands than is charged by the cash stores. You get the labels of the best houses on your clothing when you buy of me.

I have no make of clothing of my own to foist upon the public. I will not sell a man a suit that is not as well known to him as it is to me.

No man need now pay his whole week's salary for clothes—neither is he compelled to go to a cheap credit house and pay an outrageous profit for an inferior credit house brand of clothing.

I will sell him on credit, at cash prices, any of the following well-known brands of clothing which are carried by the best and most reputable clothing stores in Boston:

The Richard System Clothes of New York City, the highest class ready-for-service garments in America; R. B. Fashion Clothes of Rochester, N. Y., the "snappiest" clothes in America for the clever dresser; Strouse & Bros. "High Art" Clothes of Baltimore, Md., clothes of quality, suitable for the conservative dresser: Griffon Clothes of Baltimore, "Faddy" clothes for young men; Lincoln Brand of Boston, the very best medium-priced clothes made; Frankel System Clothes of New York City, including the famous Frankel $15.00 Suit, the best suit made for this price in America; Character Clothes of New York City, highest grade strictly union made garment; National Student Clothes of New York City, style, quality and make are all combined in this brand, especially adapted for the youth; Adler's Clothes of Milwaukee, the famous "Collegian" brand, and also many other well known Standard Brands of beautiful clothes advertised in the papers.

PRIVATE OFFICES FOR THE USE OF CUSTOMERS—This year we have added several more private offices for our customers, where business may be transacted without the objectionable publicity of the old style methods of old style concerns.

MEN'S CREDIT CLOTHING EDITION

OVER $150,000.00 PAID YEARLY IN SALARIES TO THE DESIGNERS OF THE MEN'S CLOTHING SOLD BY N. SALLINGER ON CREDIT

ONE firm alone pays its designer a salary of Twenty-five Thousand Dollars a year. To retain this designer this house was recently obliged to take him into the firm.

To standardize a brand of clothing, which means to make it well known throughout the country as a product of standard value, the makers are obliged to spend thousands of dollars in the designing of styles. Fashion decrees a change in style every year. The best and leading styles are the creations of the high-priced designers. Makers of cheap, non-standard clothing attempt imitation of the work of the leading designers, and, of course, necessarily are months behind the season in style and cannot be considered as standard brands. They have no original artistic high-priced creators of fashion, and of course their product cannot be standard. A man should never buy anything in ready-tailored clothing outside of the Standard Brands.

A Man Should Buy Only Standard Brands of Clothing

A designer of a Standard Brand of clothing not only decrees the fashion of the cut of the garments, but he, in many cases, designs the weave of the cloth, also the color. Some of the best of the Standard Brands go so far in the matter of style that they have what is known to the trade as "Confined Patterns," that is, some particular weaves and colors are not distributed over the country indiscriminately, only a few suits or coats of a certain weave or color are sent to each city and confined to one or two of the best clothing retailers.

N. Sallinger Has the Exclusive Credit Arrangement with the Standard Brands

Because of its high-salaried designer, a Standard Brand of clothing is not necessarily a high-priced brand. A low-priced or medium-priced brand of clothing can be and is standardized because OF its high-priced designer and its uniform and dependable standard character and value. AMONG MANY OTHER MEDIUM AND HIGH-PRICED STANDARD BRANDS N. Sallinger sells on credit a Standard Brand that retails for $15 a suit. It is made by a house that pays its designer $15,000 a year. This same designer fashions their higher-priced Standard Brands and the expression of his art shows in the lines of the $15 suit as well as in the $50 suit. The difference exists in the quality of cloth and workmanship.

RHODE ISLAND. To the People of Rhode Island: All Standard Brands of clothing can be purchased through our Providence establishment as well as in Boston, and our famous Order Check is accepted as cash by all the leading department and specialty stores in Providence.

Nobody Apparently Wants a $50,000 Georgetown Church

GEORGETOWN, Nov. 21.—No one will take the Peabody Memorial Church edifice, valued at $50,000, and erected by a bequest in the will of George Peabody and given to the Congregationalists of the town, as a gift.

The building has been abandoned. Indications are that resentment on the part of the townspeople because dances are banned in the church has caused them to refuse to have anything to do with the building. For several years it has not been used for religious purposes.

At a meeting of the First Congregational parish a member moved: "That the clerk of the parish notify the clerk of the church the parish deems it inadvisable to take over the Memorial Church property and that as far as the parish is concerned, the matter be dropped."

SHOE MEN DISCUSS PLAN TO PUT PRICE $1 A PAIR HIGHER

A proposition to raise the retail price of shoes $1 on all lines was discussed by manufacturers and retailers at a dinner at the Somerset Hotel given by members of the Boston Boot and Shoe Club.

Both ends of the trade agreed that the retail shoe trade of today yields the lowest returns on capital invested of any other trade in the country.

A Missouri "Show-Down"

By MORTON BIRGE.

These people who live in Missouri, it seems that they still must be "shown."
And this also goes for the ladies and not for the men folks alone.
In witness whereof we would mention dispatches relating the case
Of two Kansas City young matrons and how each was slapped in the face.

Their club held its regular party at cards and the playing was keen.
And one, Mrs. Setzer, said something that young Mrs. Thompson thought mean.
Straightway they both "Came from Missouri" and had to be "shown" who was right.
And each one was slapped by the other, the feminine form of a fight.

It just goes to show that Missouri continues, as ever, to be
The State where the chief declaration is "I'm from Missouri, show me!"
In playing cards there with the ladies, don't argue fine points of the play,
Unless you can stand for a "show-down," a la the Missourian way.

HUNT OHIAN AS WOMAN'S SLAYER

CINCINNATI, Nov. 21.—The police today set a dragnet for a prominent Cincinnati man following the identification of the woman killed in a Chicago hotel last Thursday as Mrs. Emma Kraft of Cincinnati. They believe he is the murderer.

A warrant for the alleged slayer is in the hands of the Chicago detective department. The Chicago police say that the suspect is under surveillance and his arrest is near.

The police have been informed that this man was formerly engaged to marry Mrs. Kraft, who was sixty years old, and that he had borrowed $800 from her.

Recognition of Mrs. Kraft's umbrella led to the positive identification of her clothing by a niece and her daughter.

Mrs. Kraft was known to have sold property here valued at $4,870, and the police are convinced that she had a large part of this sum in her possession shortly previous to her death.

This leads to the theory of robbery as a motive, according to the police, although they say the suspected man possibly got rid of Mrs. Kraft because she had threatened to prosecute him for the money she claimed to have loaned him.

SAYS "GOOD CITIZEN" IS A BELIEVER IN "SOCIAL MORALITY"

"The good citizen is the good man who takes an active, intelligent and unselfish interest in the affairs of the community, the man who believes in social morality."

This was the definition given by the Rev. John Van Shaick, pastor of the Church of Our Father, of Washington, D. C., in delivering the annual Russell lecture in Goddard Chapel, Tufts College, upon the subject "The Christian Faith and Belief as Related to the Conduct of the Good Citizen and the Good Man."

Dr. Van Shaick said:

We have been hearing about the good citizen in the campaign just ended. He has been described from many standpoints. In point of fact, he appears in many different garbs, he votes under different party emblems, he interprets duty in many different ways.

Booth Tarkington's Former Wife Is to Marry Again Soon

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 21.—Indianapolis people received a surprise today on learning that Mrs. Louise Fletcher Tarkington, divorced wife of Booth Tarkington, author and playwright, is to marry Alfred W. Markham, prominent in club circles here.

Mrs. Tarkington obtained her divorce a year ago. Booth Tarkington recently married Mrs. Temple Robinson, former wife of the English playwright, at Dayton, O.

"Booter" Brickley of Harvard "Bucks" Line to Register as Voter

With his father, William J. Brickley, as interference, Charlie Brickley, Harvard's star halfback, bucked the line of those waiting at the Everett city clerk's office to register and enrolled as a voter. Brickley will be twenty-one next Sunday.

The line was made up mostly of women. Six hundred and eighty-three women registered during the day, bringing Everett's total female vote to 1,107. There were only fifty-six men registered during the day. City Clerk Joseph H. Cannell was kept an hour later than the regular closing time.

The closing day of registration for the city election in Somerville was marked by the addition of the names of 586 women to the lists. The office of City Clerk Cook was crowded.

The interest was occasioned by the candidacy of Mrs. A. H. Weeks, as a Progressive, for the School Committee in Ward 5, and the candidacies of Democrats in Wards 5 and 6.

Discouraged, Nervous Men and Women

The Great Tonic, Tona Vita, Is Building Them Up by Thousands.

A few years ago if you were nervous and all run down with little strength and poor health generally, you would have wondered what to do to build yourself up.

Nowadays if you remain in this miserable condition a day longer, it is your own fault. Tona Vita, the wonderful tonic that has built up thousands of run down people in the last two years, is ready to help you.

Get it at once. Take it a few weeks and your old health and strength will return without fail. You will feel like a new person almost from the first dose of this pleasant tasting tonic.

Weigh yourself after taking Tona Vita one week and see how much you have gained in weight.

Tona Vita is sold by all druggists.

A Genuine Rupture Cure
Sent On Trial To Prove It

Don't Wear a Truss Any Longer

After Thirty Years' Experience I Have Produced An Appliance for Men, Women and Children That Actually Cures Rupture.

If you have tried most everything else, come to me. Where others fail is where I have my greatest success. Send attached coupon today and I will send you free my illustrated book on rupture and its cure, showing my Appliance and giving you prices and names of many people who have tried it and were cured. It is instant relief when all others fail. Remember, I use no salves, no harness, no lies.

I send on trial to prove what I say is true. You are the judge and once having seen my illustrated book and read it you will be as enthusiastic as my hundreds of patients whose letters you can also read. Fill out free coupon below and mail today. It's well worth your time whether you try my Appliance or not.

Pennsylvania Man Thankful

Mr. C. E. Brooks,
Marshall, Mich.
Dear Sir:
Perhaps it will interest you to know that I have been ruptured six years and have always had trouble with it till I got your Appliance. It is very easy to wear, fits neat and snug, and is not in the way at any time, day or night. In fact, at times I did not know I had it on; it just adapted itself to the shape of the body and seemed to be a part of the body, as it clung to the spot, no matter what position I was in.

It would be a veritable God-send to the unfortunates who suffer from rupture if all could procure the Brooks Rupture Appliance and wear it. They would certainly never regret it.

My rupture is now all healed up and nothing ever did it but your Appliance. Whenever the opportunity presents itself I will say a good word for your Appliance, and also for the honorable way in which you deal with ruptured people. It is a pleasure to recommend a good thing among your friends or strangers. I am,
Yours very sincerely,
JAMES A. BRITTON
80 Spring St., Bethlehem, Pa.

Recommend From Texas Farmer

Mr. C. E. Brooks,
Marshall, Mich.
Dear Sir:
I feel it my duty to let you and also all people afflicted as I was, know what your Appliance has done for me. I have been ruptured for many years and have worn many different trusses, but never got any relief until I got your Appliance. I [illegible] last November [illegible] I have [illegible] it away [illegible] have had it off for two weeks and doing all kinds of farm work with ease. While I was wearing it I had lagrippe and coughed a great deal but it held all right. Words cannot express my gratitude towards you and your Appliance. Will recommend it to all ruptured people.
Yours sincerely,
Bald Prairie, Texas. J. E. LONG.

Others Failed But The Appliance Cured

Mr. C. E. Brooks,
Marshall, Mich.
Dear Sir:—
Your Appliance did all you claim for the little boy and more, for it cured him sound and well. We let him wear it for about a year in all, although it cured him 3 months after he had begun to wear it. We had tried several other remedies and got no relief, and I shall certainly recommend it [illegible] you.
Yours respectfully,
WM. PATTERSON.
No. 717 S. Main St., Akron, O.

The above is C. E. Brooks, inventor of the Appliance, who cured himself and who has been curing others for over 30 years. If ruptured, write him today.

Cured at Age of 76.

Mr. C. E. Brooks,
Marshall, Mich.
Dear Sir:
I began using your Appliance for the cure of rupture (I had a pretty bad case) I think in May, 1905. On November 20, 1905, I quit using it. Since that time I have not needed or used it. I am well of the rupture and rank myself among those cured by the Brooks Discovery, which, considering my age, 76 years, I regard as remarkable.
Very sincerely yours,
High Point, N. C. SAM A. HOOVER.

Child Cured in Four Months

21 Jansen St., Dubuque, Iowa.
Mr. C. E. Brooks, Marshall, Mich.
Dear Sir:—The baby's rupture is altogether cured, thanks to your Appliance, and we are so thankful to you. If we could only have known of it sooner our little boy would not have had to suffer near as much. [illegible] He wore your brace a little over four months and has not worn it now for six weeks.
Yours very truly,
ANDREW EGGENBERGER.

Ten Reasons Why
You Should Send For Brooks Rupture Appliance.

1. It is absolutely the only Appliance of the kind on the market today, and in it are embodied the principles that inventors have sought after for years.

2. The Appliance for retaining the rupture cannot be thrown out of position.

3. Being an air cushion of soft rubber it clings closely to the body, yet never blisters or causes irritation.

4. Unlike the ordinary so-called pads, used in other trusses, it is not cumbersome or ungainly.

5. It is small, soft and pliable, and positively cannot be detected through the clothing.

6. The soft, pliable bands holding the Appliance do not give one the unpleasant sensation of wearing a harness.

7. There is nothing about it to get foul, and when it becomes soiled it can be washed without injuring it in the least.

8. There are no metal springs in the Appliance to torture one by cutting and bruising the flesh.

9. All of the material of which the Appliances are made is of the very best that money can buy, making it a durable and safe Appliance to wear.

10. My reputation for honesty and fair dealing is so thoroughly established by an experience of over thirty years of dealing with the public, and my prices are so reasonable, my terms so fair, that there certainly should be no hesitancy in sending free coupon today.

Remember

I send my Appliance on trial to prove what I say is true. You are to be the judge. Fill out free coupon below and mail today.

DONAHUE NOW IN PADDED CELL

Cornelius M. Donahue, thirty years old, who was indicted for murder in the second degree on the charge that he strangled his gray-haired invalid mother, Mrs. Ellen Donahue, a month ago at her home, No. 1287 Washington street, became violently insane in the Charles street jail and is today in a padded cell. After his arrest Donahue told the police:

"I choked my mother."

DON'T SCOLD AN IRRITABLE CHILD

If Tongue Is Coated, Stomach Sour, Breath Feverish, Give "Syrup of Figs" to Clean the Bowels.

Your child isn't naturally cross, irritable and peevish. Mother! Examine the tongue; if coated, it means the little one's stomach is disordered, liver inactive and its thirty feet of bowels clogged with foul, decaying waste.

Every mother realizes after giving delicious "Syrup of Figs" that this is the ideal laxative and physic for children. Nothing else regulates the little one's tender stomach, liver and bowels so effectually, besides they dearly love its delightful taste.

For constipated bowels, sluggish liver, biliousness, or sour, disordered stomach, feverishness, diarrhoea, sore throat, bad breath or to break a cold, give one-half to a teaspoonful of "Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile, undigested food and constipated matter will gently move on and out of the system without griping or nausea, and you will surely have a well, happy and smiling child again shortly.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging your children, being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics it cannot be harmful.

Full directions for children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the package.

Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," prepared by the California Fig Syrup Co. This is the delicious tasting, genuine old reliable. Refuse anything else offered.

$40,000 Contest Surprises

Everybody Has a Chance to Share in the Fortune Offered in the American's Subscription Race.

By THE CONTEST EDITOR.

Sunday will be a day of surprises to candidates in the $40,000 contest.

Surprise to many candidates who have felt that because of the great value of the prizes offered they "can't win."

Sunday's vote list will prove conclusively that no one in the contest has any advantage over any other that may cause discouragement even on the part of the candidate whose name is at the very bottom of [illegible]

[illegible] candidate [illegible] will receive as a reward for his or her efforts a valuable prize which will amply compensate for any effort expended.

It should be remembered that the final prize list contains 1,501 awards, and this means the absolute certainty of every active candidate being a winner.

Three Big Announcements.

Watch for three big announcements in next Sunday's AMERICAN.

First—The first vote standing containing a record of all coupon and subscription votes received by the Contest Department up to 10 p. m. last Saturday night.

Second—The announcement of the winners of the $1,000 special prizes.

Third—A special announcement by the Contest Editor of vital importance to every candidate.

If it is possible for any candidate to get ten or twenty or thirty subscriptions before next Sunday the Contest Editor's best advice is to go out and get them without delay. You will realize the importance of this advice next Sunday.

This is not a hit or miss competition. It is a purely business proposition. As rewards for securing thousands of Boston Sunday AMERICAN readers, $40,000 in cash and prizes will be paid to the ones who secure these subscribers. [illegible] absolutely all there is to it. It's [illegible] of paid in full for value received.

No Two Opinions.

With the capital prize of $10,000, five prizes of $2,000 in cash, [illegible] other big awards, there can be no two opinions about the advisability of working harder than you ever worked [illegible] to secure this remuneration.

Be sure that you see this [illegible] in the light as a pure business [illegible] to invest your time and [illegible] laudable ambition of capturing [illegible] $10,000 prize, one of the $1,000 prizes [illegible] one of the other rich awards.

Look around you and see [illegible] men or women and they are not many who [illegible] worth $10,000.

How did they acquire this sum of money? By being discouraged at every obstacle that presented itself? By being faint-hearted? By being lazy, indifferent [illegible] neglectful of opportunities?

No, indeed! They saw what they wanted and went out after it, worked, [illegible] pushed [illegible]!

A CHELSEA HUSTLER.

FRANK HEFLER

Chelsea Man Out to Win.

A District 2 candidate who feels quite certain that the first prize of $10,000 will [illegible] to him at the finish is Frank Hefler [illegible] Hubbert avenue, Chelsea.

Mr. Hefler says that he does [illegible] what the other candidates may [illegible] he believes if he doesn't [illegible] get discouraged [illegible] give up.

[illegible] subscription campaign is progressing [illegible] and he feels confident that [illegible] to be reckoned with [illegible]

TAFT BEGINS WORK ON ANNUAL MESSAGE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—President Taft [illegible] all engagements for the next two days. [illegible] the [illegible] message to Congress.

SUFFRAGISTS OPEN MEETING

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21.—The American Woman Suffrage Association convened here today for its forty-fourth annual convention. There was a strong Massachusetts delegation. Among the national officers here are James Lee Laidlaw, secretary; Miss Jennie Ashley, treasurer; Mrs. Mary Ware Bennett, auditor, and Miss Susan Walker Fitzgerald of Boston, recording secretary.

The convention, which will continue until next Tuesday, will be held in Witherspoon Hall with two sessions daily, the afternoon meetings being devoted to business matters while the night gatherings will be open to the public. During the week talks will be given between acts at many theatres by prominent speakers from [illegible] of the country.

[illegible] meeting [illegible] advocates of equal rights for women.

Dr. Anna Shaw, president of the national association, presided at the first session. Tonight has been designated "Campaign Night," with speakers from ten suffrage States. Jane Addams of Chicago will preside, and Dr. Shaw will deliver her annual address. Friday night has been set apart for the men. Saturday is "College night."

TUFTS FRESHMEN DINE IN PEACE

Little glooms chased Tufts sophomores all over the campus today; joys tripped along ahead of every freshman. For the freshman banquet went off at the American House all right despite all efforts of the sophomores to retaliate for the capture of President J. W. Fiske and Toastmaster Harry Barr[illegible] of the sophomore class when they attempted to hold their [illegible]

A [illegible] chartered trolley car and a squad of Boston's bravest [illegible] operated to turn the trick.

At [illegible] the juniors and freshmen were requested to remain for a joint meeting. Scenting a banquet, the sophomores waited outside until the final class bell rung. Fifteen minutes after the freshmen left, [illegible] walked to Cambridge and boarded a special [illegible] to the American [illegible]

[illegible] news [illegible] gathered and forty boarded a Boston-bound car and trailed the "freshies" to the American House, arriving only a few minutes too late.

A few "freshies" wandered into the Rathskeller. The sophomores piled in.

Hanover street became a bedlam. Sophomores, fighting to get into the hotel, met sophomores being ejected by porters and bell hops. The police quelled the more violent sophomores and peace reigned once more.

With the freshmen locked in their banquet hall and police guarding all entrances [illegible] the sophomores then quickly gave up all idea of capturing freshmen and returned to the [illegible] to await the return of the freshmen banqueters.

You Couldn't Hire Me to Wear Dress Shields Again!

I Use that Marvel, PERSPI-NO!

I'd never be without that wonderful powder, PERSPI-NO again. And hubby says he never will either. My armpits now are always fresh and cool. My waists and dresses never fade, get stiff or stained, all my dress-shield misery is gone besides.

No more misery from rolled up dress shields that form a ropy wad under the arms. No more humiliation.

PERSPI-NO is just glorious! We use it in summer when clothing is light, we use it in winter when clothing is heavy. It isn't greasy, hair-gumming cream, it's a powder. Use it wherever there is excessive, unnatural and misery-producing perspiration. PERSPI-NO is also ready in absolutely removing all perspiration odors. As a body sweetener there is nothing like it. A free powder pad in each box.

PERSPI-NO, sold at drug and department stores. 25c a box, or sent on receipt of price by The Perspo Co., Chicago, Ill.

MRS. HASTINGS' DOGS WINNERS

Mrs. S. B. Hastings was the big prize winner of the annual show of the Boston Terrier Club of New England held at No. 200 Huntington avenue. In addition to capturing several of the fifty specials, she won first prize with Classy in the open class for bitches and the prize for the best terrier in the show, also with Classy.

Mrs. Hastings also won second prize in the class for puppy bitches with Maggie Pepper.

Connie Sullivan's son and daughter won specials for boy and girl under twelve years showing best dog or bitch. Connie, Jr., showed Bace and Ethel Sullivan showed Hazel.

Some of the finest specimens of the Boston terrier competed for the blue ribbons.

There were ten classes and so many good terriers came into the ring for judging that Dr. Webster Stone, the judge, found his work a hard task. There were many fanciers present and most of them had dogs to show. The competition was one of the keenest held in this section for a long time.

Here's an Interesting Subject

Many Win a Prize, and Anyway You'll Have Fun and Some Good Practice.

"I want a wife. Must be a good housekeeper."

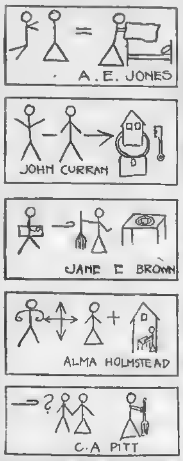
Just try your hand at writing this in the sign language, by which Sir Alexander Ramsay, the English scientist, told a Boston audience almost any thought could be expressed on paper with a great saving of time and effort.

It's not so difficult, really, and then, too, the AMERICAN offers five prizes of $1 each for the best sign sentences.

This is the second week of the AMERICAN'S offer. Last week many readers got much pleasure trying to arrange signs on the problem presented then. Many of them are sending in answers this week.

The practical value of being able to write in the sign language may be great to any one most any time, so here's a fine chance to get practice and be in line for a prize.

SOME ANSWERS.



PUT SHARE VALUE AT $3,277 IN PLEA FOR REHEARING SUIT

The appeal of the Jackson Company of Nashua, N. H., for a rehearing of the suit brought by the Gardner Investment Company against it, the Nashua Manufacturing Company and several Boston, Manchester and Nashua business men and bankers seeking to prevent the sale of the property of the Jackson Company, worth $1,906,509.93, to the Nashua Company on the ground that minority stockholders were being forced to sell their stock against their will, and that the security furnished to secure the stock of the Nashua Company taken in payment for their stock, was inadequate, has just been denied by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

Several of the officers are residents of Boston and are made defendants. They are Nathaniel Emmons, Francis Peabody, William A. Burnham, Frederic Amory, C. Minot Weld and Irvin McDowell Garfield. The intrinsic value of the stock, it is claimed, is $3277.51 a share, while that of the Nashua Company is $250.87½ a share. The Nashua Company is to pay for the property of the Jackson Company one and a half shares of its capital stock for each share of the capital stock of the Jackson Company.

POST HOLE OPENS AN OIL 'GUSHER'

WILLIAMSTOWN, Nov. 21.—What may turn out to be a regular oil well, and a "gusher" at that, was opened by a hole dug for a telephone pole near the residence of Dr. S. L. Lloyd, owner of Sand Springs, a health resort.

A workman had excavated one hole to a depth of four feet when the fluid began to flow around his feet. He [illegible] the others and they felt sure that it was petroleum. A sample was taken to a nearby bottling establishment for examination, and fumes drove the men from the room.

The fluid since then has continued to bubble from the hole. Dr. Lloyd drove a stake about six feet long into the ground a short distance from the bubbling fluid. Water gushed out and then [illegible] the oleaginous liquid. It continued to gush in a steady stream.

Dr. Lloyd is to have the liquid analyzed. He thinks that it is merely a freak and of no commercial value. The soil where the liquid is flowing is composed of sand and clay.

$60,000 GIFT TO SMITH COLLEGE FUND

NORTHAMPTON, Nov. 21.—A gift of $60,000 from Mrs. John O. Albright of Buffalo, N. Y., toward the million-dollar fund which President Marion Leroy Burton has undertaken to raise for Smith College was announced by President Burton. The total amount of the fund now raised is $550,000.

Chelsea Girl Tells How Her Auto Aided to Nominate Father

Miss Ethel Lincoln, daughter of John W. Lincoln of Chelsea, who won a nomination at the primaries for Alderman-at-Large, told today how she "nominated papa." For she played an important part in her father's victory. She is going to help her father at the election, too, she says.

In her touring car, she drove through every precinct, carrying voters to and from the polls. She conceived the idea of assisting her father the night before the caucuses, but said nothing about it until a few hours before the polls opened.

Here is her story:

After receiving papa's consent I drove to a painter's and got a large banner bearing the words "Vote for John W. Lincoln for Alderman at Large." This I fastened to the rear of the car.

My first [illegible] was the Soldiers' Home. I knew those poor old veterans would not be able to walk to the polls [illegible]. I succeeded in assisting quite a few to the precinct [illegible].

My brother secured a voting list and we checked off those who came to the polls, and those who did not we went after. On the way to the polls I didn't hesitate to talk politics and urge the men to cast their votes for my father.

It was great fun, and I am anxious for election day to come so I can again help my father to win. In the meantime I am going to do some campaigning for him and I feel confident we will make him a winner on election day.

GIRL INSISTS DEATH ACCIDENT

COLUMBUS, Nov. 21.—Facing a fourth day of rigorous questioning, Lecina Farley, the State House stenographer on trial for the murder of Alvin E. Zollinger, continued firm today in her claim that she shot Zollinger accidentally.

Prosecuting Attorney Edward C. Turner questioned the girl.

During the cross-examination the witness showed the first signs of fatigue [illegible].

Miss Farley [illegible] contradicted previous evidence she had given. She strenuously denied much of the testimony given by a woman detective who had been placed in an adjoining cell in the county jail.

The witness told of trips she had taken with Zollinger [illegible] Zollinger wanted to accompany her to California.

She referred to Jessie Quigley, a man to whom she was engaged, as a "body guard" because he was with her so much of the time after their engagement.

DARTMOUTH MAN DEFENDS ELEVEN

Irving P. French, chairman of the Dartmouth [illegible] issued the following statement in answer to the charges of rough play by the Dartmouth team last Saturday:

"On the day following the game the Dartmouth Athletic Council instituted an investigation to ascertain whether a policy hitherto unknown in Dartmouth football had been in operation.

"While the inquiry of the council is not completed, certain facts appear to be established. There were several instances during the contest when individuals on the Dartmouth team unquestionably overstepped the bounds of sportsmanlike play. In these particular cases, however, the offence was so awkward in execution and the offenders of such excellent character that it is difficult to ascribe their conduct to any premeditated or deliberate intent.

"If continued inquiry satisfies the council that the Dartmouth players were too aggressive, it is believed that the reason will be found to lie not in any intentional or deliberate act on the part of the players, but on the contrary in overzealousness brought about by pressure directed against the members of the team by undergraduates, graduates, coaches and the football council during the three weeks intervening between the Princeton and Harvard games.

"It is [illegible] to be expected that [illegible] stinging criticism the team went into the Harvard game determined to show that they were not quitters, to defend and to put up the hardest fight they were capable of. If in so doing they exceeded the bounds of good sportsmanship the members of the team [illegible] Dartmouth [illegible] authorities [illegible]

THEY'RE talking 10 to 7 and 10 to 6 betting, with Harvard on the long end. But those who must put a little wager on the Crimson or the Blue are not stacking up much real United States currency at those odds. Nor should they. No football game between Yale and Harvard, under the rules of football as played today, is a fair 10 to 7 or 10 to 6 proposition. Better no bet at all. But if you must, all the "dope" of Harvard and Yale, taken in connection with the work of both teams up to date, gives Harvard a "shade" of about 10 to 9, or thereabouts—that difference being about the percentage difference between the precise and determined kicking ability of Felton and Brickley and the more erratic and unguessable booting of Flynn and Pumpelly.

* * *

THE field is only 100 yards long now. There are four downs to gain ten yards instead of three downs, as heretofore. Fellows like Brickley and Pumpelly can kick field goals from the centre of the gridiron about once in four attempts—according to the averages. They're almost sure to bat about .333 from the thirty-five-yard line. Surely the ball won't stay in midfield for two straight hours. It must go over, one way or the other, fifteen yards or so several times. So any man who bets good money, 10 to 6 or 10 to 7, that one team will score more points than the other must be able to pick his money off bushes or have no particular care for where and when it goes.

* * *

ACCORDING to all that Yale and Harvard have done respectively this year Harvard apparently has a better football team than Yale has, line for line and back for back in the game of straight football. When, besides that, it is conceded that, kick for kick, Felton and Brickley are much better and much more dependable than Flynn and Pumpelly, you have all the advantage in favor of Cambridge. But when either side is almost certain to kick a goal from the field once in every four opportunities, and that Old Dr. Field Goal Opportunity will be knocking at both teams' back doors most of the time, you have found a betting proposition which depends mainly upon the psychological government of the quarterback, who signals when to resort to the boot, and the mental ability of the booter to boot it in the right place at the right time.

* * *

FOR, as Charley Brewster says, when a skilled kicker has his mind concentrated on what he's doing he can hoist over a field goal, but if his attention is distracted he can't.

* * *

THEN, why bet 10 to 7 or 10 to 6 on Harvard? That's almost a 10 to 7 or 10 to 6 bet that Gardner will think more opportunely and quickly than Wheeler thinks, and that something is less likely to interrupt Brickley's mental apparatus than Flynn's or Pumpelly's at the right or wrong particular moment. You're getting in deep, kid.

* * *

FRANK CAVANAUGH, who coached the Dartmouth team whose husky play has started an after-row in Cambridge, says that Harvard has a better football team than Yale, but notice that Cavanaugh carefully resists the temptation to say that Harvard will probably win. Coach Robinson of Brown, whose team was beaten by 30 to 0 by Harvard and 10 to 0 by Yale, says about the same thing, but he will not admit that Harvard is likely to score a touchdown against Yale. And Percy Haughton, who has built up the Harvard team and the Harvard system, will not say any more than Cavanaugh and Robinson have said.

HOPPE WINS IN BIG TITLE GAME

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Willie Hoppe retained his title as champion at 18.2 balk line billiards by defeating Ora Morningstar in the final game of the championship tournament here last night by the score of 500 to 276.

Neither man played up to expectations, although Hoppe at times gave an excellent exhibition of his ability, making runs of 86, 77 and 74. Morningstar was unable to keep the ivories under control.

FRENCH WONDER WINS FROM REDDY

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Charles Ledoux, the wonderful French bantamweight champion, easily defeated Battling Reddy in their ten-round bout here last night. The Frenchman fought a rushing battle and he had his opponent retreating and covering up the greater part of the time.

Ledoux is not a very clever boxer, but is as strong as the proverbial lion and packs a wicked wallop in either hand.

CHAUNCY GETS A NEW NAME

All around the circuit the Chauncy team of the City League is being dubbed the All AMERICAN Five. Every man on the team with the exception of one—Bill Beatty—won prizes at the Boston AMERICAN championship tournament at the New Boston alleys last March, and that is the reason for their new name.

Paul Poehler, the winner of the tournament, is anchorman on the team and made an average of 107 during the first quarter. Terry Griffin, the winner of the third prize; Holmes, who was eliminated in the semi-final round, and Sam Paige, who was beaten out in the first elimination round by a single pin, are the other members of the team. Archie Walsh, who was with Chauncy during the first few matches of the season and who is now in the Suburban League, was also a prize winner in the AMERICAN tournament. Bill Beatty, the fifth member of the team, did not enter the tournament, but his useful advice helped Terry Griffin to finish where he did.

Won Honors at Lawrence.

After the AMERICAN tournament Beatty got Poehler, Walsh, Griffin and Lodge together and brought them to the National Duck and Candlepin tournament, held at the Majestic alleys, Lawrence.

Bill's selection was a wise one, for his team carried away the majority of the honors at the tournament. Archie Walsh won the individual candlepin prize. Chauncy carried off the team prize and Terry Griffin won the individual duck pin prize.

That did not satisfy Bill, however, and he went even further. He got the promise of every man who had done so well with him at the AMERICAN and Lawrence tournaments, to bowl with Chauncy in the City League this season.

Dalton Has Good Five.

The Dalton Amateur Boston Pin League team of Newburyport has lived up to expectations and has proved itself a team to be feared in the race this year. Last season the Dalton club made a very poor start, but nearing the end of its schedule it began to show flashes of brilliancy. Its recent mark of 1584 should go to show that it is not made up of minor league material.

Poehler to Start Bowling.

Paul Poehler will begin his active Winter campaign shortly. His recent exhibitions in the City League competition shows that he has not gone back, but on the contrary he seems to be improving. Little was heard or seen of Paul last year, but at the same time he was showing the folks up Portsmouth, N. H., just how the game should be played.

To Tour the State.

Don McPhee of the Casino alleys is formulating plans to bring the Casino team on a barnstorming trip through the Western part of the State after the City League season. Don has already received offers to bowl in several big cities.

Lang is Doing Well.

The old veteran Pat Lang does not intend to give way to the youngsters, as his average shows in the City League this season.

DEAN TO COACH THE WEST POINT KICKERS

WEST POINT, Nov. 21.—Following the return of Captain Graves, the head coach, the West Point eleven has done fine work in practice. All the regulars except Huston and Rowley are in good shape. Prichard, Hobbs and Hocker have been taken in hand by Dean, the Army's great punter of a year ago, and put through long drills at kicking.

SCHOOL RESULTS.

At Dorchester.

English High defeated the High School of Commerce in a hard-fought game yesterday by the score of 18 to 6.

At Somerville.

Somerville High experienced little difficulty in winning from Melrose High yesterday afternoon by the score of 39 to 6.

At Arlington.

Lexington High proved no match for the strong Arlington High eleven yesterday and went down to defeat by the score of 19 to 0. A big crowd saw the battle.

At Lynn.

Using the forward pass to advantage, Swampscott High won from Lynn Classical yesterday in a well-played game by the score of 13 to 0.

At Brockton.

Malden High continued to play championship football yesterday, defeating Brockton in rather easy style by the score of 34 to 0.

At Everett.

Revere High won a lucky 7 to 6 victory from Chelsea yesterday.

Harvard Not to Race Princeton and Penn

According to a statement made today by William F. Garcelon, graduate manager of Harvard, the Crimson athletic authorities have not opened any negotiations for a three-cornered crew race between Pennsylvania, Princeton [illegible] Harvard.

Garcelon declared that he was not heard anything about such a race and that he does not believe the Harvard athletic directors would think of such a thing, as it would be asking too much of the crew men to have them engage in such a strenuous race along with the contests already arranged for.

TO GO TO ATLANTIC CITY.

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 20.—Coach Sharpe announced today that the Cornell football players would be taken to Atlantic City Monday, where they will finish their training for the annual game with Pennsylvania in Philadelphia on Thanksgiving Day.

BOXING RESULTS.

Gibbons Meets Master.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21.—In a special bout at the National A. C., Jack McCarron, the Allentown boy, surprised Mike Gibbons, the St. Paul middleweight, by winning in the last two rounds. Both boys weighed in under the middleweight figures.

Hayes Given Surprise.

DETROIT, Nov. 21.—"Chick" Hayes, the Indianapolis featherweight, received the surprise of his life in the final bout at Windsor at the hands of Jerry Dalton of Jeffersonville, Ind., who had all the better of the eight-round battle.

Loughrey is Victor.

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 21.—Frank Loughrey of Philadelphia, substituting for Dave Deshler, who injured his mouth and could not box, outpointed Battling Hurley of New York in a fast 15-round bout at the Marieville A. C. The battle was one of the hardest fought ever staged at the club.

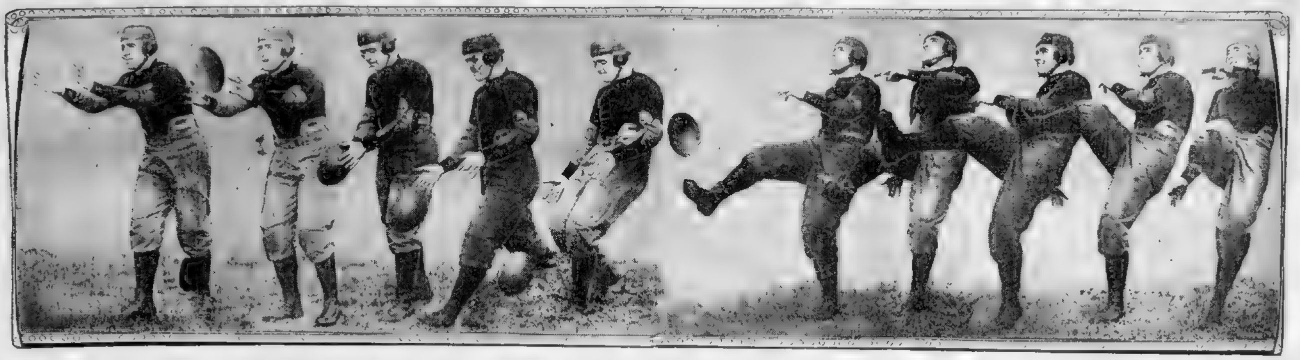
MOVING PICTURE OF CHARLEY BRICKLEY DROPPING GOAL FROM THE FIELD



Here's Charley Brickley, the Harvard wizard of the drop-kick, as he appears in the moving picture films. Brickley's field goals won the Princeton and Dartmouth games. On Brickley's drop kicks Harvard bases its hopes of winning from Yale Saturday and taking the undisputed football championship for the first time in history. This series of films, made expressly for the Boston AMERICAN by R. W. Sears at Harvard Stadium, shows every stage of Brickley's drop kick. In posing for it, Brickley booted three successive goals from the 35-yard line. This consistent succession of drop-kicks, in itself, was one of the greatest football feats ever accomplished. Notice, in the films, how he stretches out his arms to receive the ball from the quarter back. How he catches the pass. How he drops the ball. It strikes the ground. At the instant of rebound his right toe goes under it. He hoists it in air. It shoots off for the goal post. It is aimed to go between the upright posts and over the cross-bar. The kicker watches it sail towards the coveted space before his outstretched leg has returned to earth. As the ball heads straight for the three points scored by a field goal you can see the smile of satisfaction spread over his face. As Brickley says: "You can tell whether you succeed the moment the ball leaves the foot; almost by the feeling when you kick it." The time from passing the ball until it goes over the bar averages about four seconds.

YALE READY FOR HARVARD ELEVEN

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 21.—Yale and Harvard together used the Eli gridiron today for their practice matinee.

Yale gave Harvard the right of way, the Crimson backs coming here for their drill in lights and shadows inside the Eli playing enclosure at the hour the game is scheduled and just two days in advance.

Scrimmage Over for Season.

The Yale team waited till the Harvard players had finished their work before they started practice. Head Coach Howe of the Elis this morning said that scrimmaging was over for the season.

"It will be only the lightest work from this time," said he. "It will be practically a conditioning exercise and a rehearsal of the plays. We have had no time to build up a new defence since the Princeton game and our plays against Harvard will be exactly what we had learned before that match."

The Yale players came trooping down Prospect Hill this morning from the College Infirmary after their first night's sleep there and reported at the Hotel Taft training table that they felt pounds heavier. Their appetites bore out their statement.

Loftus May Play Saturday.

The case of Frank Loftus will be taken up this afternoon by Head Coach Howe with Dean Jones. It is felt that there is only a technical hitch and that the clever quarterback will be used on Saturday. Loftus has always worked with Pumpelly and the pair will be used for part of the game Saturday if Loftus is declared eligible to play.

The advance guard of the crowds for the game is already here. All the hotels are now filled close to their capacity and a series of social functions in the local clubs and by the local society leaders have begun.

Captain Spalding said today that he did not believe that there would be any changes in the Yale team before the Harvard game. The lineup against Princeton is now taken for granted.

It is believed, however, that the Yale team was badly pounded up by the Tiger duel and that these slight bumps will come to the surface as the Harvard attack becomes aggressive on Saturday.

Yale's chances for victory are not regarded anywhere nearly equal by those close to the team, although the coaches will not express any opinion on the result. Given the wind, Yale will probably start the kicking game, relying on "Lefty" Flynn's toe to gain ground. The Yale coaches still believe that he can outkick Felton, and will try out their convictions.

BROWN COACH SAYS HARVARD IS THE CHOICE

Coach Robinson of Brown, whose team was beaten, 30 to 0, by Harvard and 10 to 0 by Yale, declares that Harvard has a better team than Yale, but he will not predict that Harvard will win Saturday. Here is Robinson's opinion of the two teams:

Considering the work of the two teams in their games with Brown, it is safe to say that so far as team development is concerned Harvard is more advanced and is a better football machine, while Yale has the material, but has not as yet molded it together. A great deal can be accomplished this week, however—how much in this case remains to be seen.

The respective scores against Brown did not tell the story and are of no great value in determining the strength of the two teams, as neither team was as much stronger than Brown as the scores would seem to indicate.

Didn't Have to Guess.

About the first problem a coach must contend with is the material to make up a team, and in this respect Harvard has been favored, not so much that the material was better, but principally because there was not too much.

It is a handicap to have so many good men trying for a team that it is hard to select the eleven, and for this reason Yale is still experimenting, while the Harvard team has been apparently settled for some weeks.

Harvard knows her game and plays it well, and with a certainty and precision that is lacking at New Haven. The varsity at Cambridge has evidently been selected with speed rather than weight as the standard, while Yale seems to have a leaning toward the 200-pound type of men. It will take a lot of work this week to get the Yale line-up to standard.

Yale Lacks System.

Considering the offensive strength of the two teams as manifested against Brown in actual ground gained, Yale has the advantage. There was, however, a lack of cohesion and a tendency to use a hit-or-miss style of attack, trusting some time in the game to get a fast man free for a long run.

This is exemplified in the kick formation when Flynn is back and tries for wide end runs. He is either stopped behind the line or makes a long run.

The play is much after that used by Penn, with Mercer back. This was fairly successful around Brown's left end, but generally failed on the right side.

The Yale backs ran very high, and in many of their plays gave a very close imitation of hurdling. The interference formed well, but did not put the man out of the play, and with the exception of Flynn's wide runs there was no play shown against Brown that would be very dangerous to Harvard's defence.

Harvard is still using its old one man shift, for which plenty of time is given to form a defence. The theory is evidently to get the strongest offensive linemen a chance to work together and also give the general an opportunity to pick the weak spots.

In a quick shift as used throughout by Yale in the third quarter the signal is given before the shift is made, and there is no chance to size up the defence, except from previous plays. This style is in general use on most teams, but Harvard seems to get along pretty well.

HARVARD MEN CONFIDENT OF WIN IN BIG BATTLE

HARVARD BACKS NOW IN ELI'S CAMP

5,000 Rooters Cheer Haughton's Men in Final Practice of Season.

The Harvard backs were given a rousing sendoff when they left Cambridge for New Haven this morning. Each of the players was cheered in turn by the big body of students which turned out in order to see them off.

The Crimson men will work out at New Haven today and tomorrow. In this way they will get accustomed to the light and conditions at Yale field and therefore there will not be so many chances of the backs blundering when the Crimson lines up against the Blue.

The Harvard warriors and rooters are all confident of victory. They believe that Old Eli will be humbled in the big battle Saturday.

Easy Workout for Men.

On the eve of one of the greatest football games known in the history of Harvard and Yale, the Harvard team took an afternoon off yesterday for what was practically mere fooling. Knowing well that there would be a large number of Yale scouts around, Coach Haughton was careful at the first open practice in weeks to uncover nothing at all except what had been already shown.

And while 5,000 enthusiastic graduates and undergraduates trooped down to see the Crimson team start its last practice before leaving for New London, the coaches indulged in a comic interlude in the midst of what is really the tensest and most exciting time which has been seen in many years at Harvard.

THORPE PLAYS LAST 2 GAMES

New Englanders will probably have their last chance to see Jim Thorpe, the wonderful Carlisle Indian champion all-around athlete, in football togs, Saturday and Thanksgiving day. The Carlisle football team will play at Springfield with the Springfield Training School Saturday and Thanksgiving Day at Providence with Brown. Thorpe, it is thought, will forsake amateur athletics and enter professional baseball next Spring.

There is little doubt that these two games will be well attended. Thorpe's athletic prowess long ago won the admiration of New England athletic followers and it is certain that they will not give up the chance to see him in his final public appearances in amateur circles.

The annual Brown-Carlisle game has always drawn a crowd of Boston football followers, but this coming holiday will likely see a much larger attendance than in former years.

Thorpe loves the game and throws himself into it with a recklessness and daring which would tear a less substantially put together mortal into small segments. When he is on the field he [illegible] of him every thought of anything except the game which he is playing and fights as though his very life depended on the winning of it.

Little Bobbie's Pa

By WILLIAM F. KIRK

WILE me & Pa was up in the woods hunting we met a Count. It was the first count wich I had ever saw, but Pa says that he has chummed with a lot of them. This count was a awful jolly fellow, he could talk three or four langwidges & cud translate a lot of stories from the Italyun.

Bobbie, Pa sed to me, shake hands with Count Jandorf, formerly of Leipsick & now of Jamaica Plain. He has calm up here to shoot sum chickens, Pa sed. He used to shoot a lot of them in Quebeck.

This is only a ruff littel shack that we are in, Pa sed to the Count. We dont expeck to be here long. But I will do my bes to make you comfortabel wile you are here. I have always lived in the woods until I calm to Boston, Pa sed, & I am used to ruffing it. I suppose it will be kind of strange & hard for you at first, but I know you will get used to it, I will do all the hard work.

All rite, sed the Count, but I wud like to help.

Bless yure heart, no, said Pa, I was brought up in a rough school & you mite spoile yure hands & git them all oaver blisters.

I dont know, Pa, I sed, he looks like a pritty wise man, & he looks awful strong, too. I bet he can do mour things than you can.

I was rite, too. Wile Pa was chopping sum kindling wood, wich took him two hours, this is what Count Jandorf did:

1. Chopped enuff wood for all nite in ten minnits.
2. Bilt fires in the kitchen stove & in the littel stove in the front.
3. Peeled the potatoes & put them in the kettle.
4. Skinned two gray squirrels & cleened two patridges.
5. Showed me how to set the tin dishes on the tabel & how to roll sum dumpings out of flour & water.
6. Made a squirrel pot pie & broiled two patridges.
7. Made sum fine coffee.
8. Tock a sliver out of Pa's hand wich Pa got from the axe handle.
9. Served the dinner.

After dinner Pa sed, Well, Bobbie, that was sum dinner we fixed up, wasent it?

Can you beat that.

MOTHERHOOD SUGGESTIONS

Advice to Expectant Mothers

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Of course nearly every woman nowadays has medical treatment at such times, but many approach the experience with an organism unfitted for the trial of strength, and when it is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of caring for the child, and a distinct change in the mother results.

There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under the right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, and with ample time in which to prepare, women will persist in going blindly to the trial.

Every woman at this time should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM

Every woman ought to have Lydia E. Pinkham's 80-Page Text Book. It is not a book for general distribution, as it is too expensive. It is free and only obtainable by mail. Write for it today. Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co., Lynn, Mass.

HE IS CALLED HOME TO FIND MANETTE LOST

By MAX

OCT. 30.—This is Halloween. I can hear the children of the neighborhood making merry by playing tick-tack on front doors and running with suppressed laughter for shelter behind some clump of bushes when the door is opened.

I can hear a hurried rush of feet across the lawn and up and down the pavement, and I know by the sound that the Spirit of Mischief is abroad, and that porch chairs, gates and hammocks that have hung out too long are being transported to some other man's porch and lawn.

But all this merriment awakens no answering smile in me. It was the night when I had promised Manette that I would let her go out, under Tompkins' guidance, and play her little game of tick-tack on the Spencer's front door, and I had told her she could have a dress like that of the old woman who rode across the heavens on a broomstick.

"You can tell Auntie Jack," I had said, "that you came in a witch's airship."

We had laughed over this night after night, when getting her to sleep, and I had counted the days for her that intervened. Richards had bought the material for the witch's gown and cap, a gay red, and that night Manette insisted on having the material across the foot of her bed. The dress was to be cut out the next morning. The next morning! How little we knew!

Picture of Health

Manette had at last closed her eyes in sleep, and I had carried her to her bed, where Richards tucked her in. The gay cloth across the foot of the bed was not much brighter than the color in the child's cheeks. Her long country rides with me had left their imprint, and I remarked to Richards, what a perfect picture of health and happiness she made.

I was called down stairs to the telephone. A long distance call that told of urgent business that necessitated my departure from home early next morning. I found by consulting a timetable that I could leave at 5, and leaving word for Tompkins to be ready to drive me to the station, I went to bed.

I was hurried next morning and did not get time to take a good-by look at Manette nor to leave any messages regarding her. But it would have seemed so useless and unnecessary had I had the time, for Richards was devotion itself to the child. With her in charge, and Tompkins as a sort of outdoor guard, and the Spencers next door, I had never had a moment's uneasiness.

I will tell the rest of the story, Diary, as Richards told it to me, with white face, and eyes that were wild with apprehension and grief. I received a telegram about 5 in the afternoon from Jack Spencer. It read: "Come home at once, for God's sake."

There could be only one cause for sending such a message, Manette! And I was on my way home within five minutes after I received it. Jack met me.

Richards' Story

Briefly, and with an effort to make light of the situation, which did not for a moment deceive me, he told me what had happened. But it is the story that Richards told me, Diary, that I will tell you.

"When Manette awoke, Mr. Max, her first thought was of you, and I told her you had been called away, and that she could not have her ride today. She [illegible] so disappointed that I tried to make her forget it by calling attention to the material for the witch's gown. 'My baby flowers, I wanted to be sunshine to my baby flowers,' she kept saying. 'Uncle Max promised me I could see my baby flowers today.'

"I did not know what she meant, Mr. Max. I had heard you telling her something about her flowers, but hadn't paid attention."

Then she broke down and cried, and it seemed to me she could never go on.

"She had her breakfast up in the nursery, and after she had eaten I made a cap out of a newspaper and pinned it on her head, and told her how she would frighten her Auntie Jack. 'She'll think you are a really and truly witch,' I said, but somehow I couldn't get her interested.

"She seemed so disappointed that I dressed her and took her for a walk, and she coaxed me all the way to take her to see some baby flowers. I didn't know where they were, or what she meant, and on the way home I stopped in at [illegible] Spencer's. She was always so happy there I thought she would forget what seemed to be troubling her poor little baby heart."

Manette Lost

That was the last Richards saw of her. Mrs. Spencer insisted on having the child remain for lunch, and Richards went home. Shortly after lunch Manette, always restless, and more restless than usual, insisted on going home. Mrs Spencer stood on the front porch and watched her till she was hidden behind a syringa bush at the corner of my lawn. Then she went back into the house. She felt no uneasiness, for only a moment before she had seen Tompkins on the front lawn.

That little vision of the child, dressed in the white she always wore, and with a scarlet cloak and hat, was the last any one had of her.

Mrs. Spencer returned indoors, satisfied that the child was safely home. Richards cut out the witch's gown and cap, contented that Manette was with the Auntie Jack she so dearly loved.

Manette left the Spencers at 1 o'clock. Richards went over for her at 3 and found she wasn't there.

They stop itching instantly. Sold by every druggist. For free samples write to dept. 30-R, Resinol Chem. Co., Baltimore, Md. Resinol Shaving Stick, (25c) cannot irritate the tenderest face.

New York, October 17, 1912.

"I was troubled with acne (or pimples) for three years. My face was broken out with pimples, and would at times get like raw meat. I tried all sorts of salves and soaps. I received samples of Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment, and they helped me very much. After using them I bought the regular size of each, and my face is now perfectly clear and smooth. My friends are asking me what I used, and I shall be glad to recommend Resinol."

Daysey Mayme and Her Folks

By FRANCES L. GARSIDE

HAVING read, and heard in lecture and sermon, that the world has no use for a drone, Daysey Mayme Appleton decided to quit the butterfly life she was leading.

She would become an ant, that being the insect emblem of industry. She would get a position as clerk in a department store and Study Human Nature. (Daysey Mayme always uses capitals in Studying Human Nature.)

She got a position in the linen department, and her first customer asked for napkins.

A few minutes later another shopper asked for towels.

"I am so glad to see you," said Daysey Mayme. "I was hoping you would come. I know," seeing the woman's look of surprise, "that we are not acquainted, but are we not all of one family? Are we not sisters? Let me show you our newest thing in guest towels."

She powdered her nose with one hand, spreading the towels on the counter with the other.

"The very smallest towels are called guest towels; they are that size to match the size of the welcome."

She laughed, but the shopper didn't smile.

"Perhaps you don't laugh," said Daysey Mayme, "because you are a guest."

The woman turned to leave the store, but before she had reached the door, Daysey Mayme was at her side. Laying a restraining hand on the shopper's arm, she said,

"Don't go so soon. I wish you would stay a little longer, or at least promise you will come again. And do write!"

The floorwalker, the bogey man of every girl clerk's dreams, saw her, and that night Daysey Mayme was discharged.

She didn't want to be a drone; she was tired of being a butterfly; she had failed as an ant.

"Why not," suggested Lysander John, "become a worm like your father?"

HOME HELPS TO HEALTH AND BEAUTY

FACE POWDER INJURIOUS—Women who use face powder often wonder why their complexions are rough and muddy looking. This is caused by the powder clogging up the skin pores which causes many complexion ills. By dissolving four ounces of spurmax in one-half pint witch hazel (or hot water), then adding two teaspoonfuls glycerine, you will have a lotion that not only affords the very best protection to the skin but does not rub off or show like powder. This lotion is inexpensive and unequaled for taking away that shiny, oily, sallow look. It makes the skin smooth, clear and beautiful.

WHEN EYEBROWS ARE THIN—Get a small original package of pyroxin and rub some on eyebrows with finger-tip. This makes them grow thick and glossy. Short, straight eyelashes will come in long and curly merely by applying pyroxin at lash-roots with thumb and fore finger. Not many applications are required, but care should be used not to get any where no hair is wanted.

FINE HAIR-TONIC—To stimulate a healthy condition of the scalp and promote hair growth, no better means has been found than the use of the following inexpensive tonic: Dissolve an ounce of quinzoin in one-half pint of alcohol (not whisky) then add one-half pint cold water. Rub this tonic into the hair-roots twice a week and wonderful results are bound to follow. This simple tonic makes the hair soft and glossy without any trace of stickiness, and for removing dandruff and keeping scalp clean it is unequaled.

TO SAFELY REDUCE WEIGHT—Excessive weight can be gotten rid of safely and quickly by using the parnotis treatment. Get from your druggist four ounces parnotis and dissolve in one and one-half pints hot water and strain when cool. The dose is a tablespoonful before meals. The parnotis treatment can be discarded without fear of the fat returning when the weight is where you want it. This method of fat-reduction restores the graceful lines of the figure and leaves the flesh and skin firm and smooth.

Eckman's Alterative Highly Praised

A Valuable Remedy for Throat and Lungs.

It is folly to believe that Consumption differs from every other disease in not requiring the use of any medicine for its treatment. For a number of years an enormous mass of voluntary and thankful testimonials from persons who consider that they owe their lives to Eckman's Alterative, a medicine for Tuberculosis, has been accumulating. Surely plenty of time to demonstrate its lasting value. You can write to any of them. Here is one:

6323 Girard Ave., Phila., Pa.

"Gentlemen: In the winter of 1903 I had an attack of Grippe, followed by Pneumonia and later by Consumption. I grew steadily worse. In the winter of 1904 I had cough, night sweats, fever and raised quantities of awful-looking stuff and later I had many hemorrhages, at one time three in three successive days. Milk and eggs became so distasteful I could keep nothing down. Three physicians treated me. I was ordered to the mountains, but did not go. Eckman's Alterative was recommended by a friend. After taking a small quantity I had the first quiet night's sleep for weeks. My improvement was marked from the first. I gained strength and weight and appetite. I never had another hemorrhage and my cough gradually lessened until entirely gone. I am perfectly well. Everything I say here can be verified by my family and friends."

(Sworn affidavit) ANNE F. LOUGHRAN.

Eckman's Alterative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. For sale by Riker-Jaynes Drug Stores, Houghton & Dutton Drug Dept., and other leading druggists. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries, and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for additional evidence.

Letters of a Slim-Made Woman to Her Fat Sister

Fifth Letter: On the Shining Virtue that Fat Folks Seldom Possess —Patience.

Dear Sis:—If all people had the virtues others think they have, this world would be a paradise.'

Philosophizing? Yes, peevishly. And here's the reason. Fat folks are usually given credit for being patient—but I know some who are decidedly impatient. Many of my over-fleshy friends have marvelled at the great change in my physique—from a flabby, wobbling mountain of fat to as neat, and plump, and firm a figure as any woman could wish—and have begged me to tell how I did it.

In each case I told them to go to the drug store and get ½ ounce Marmola powder, ½ ounce Cascara Aromatic and 3½ ounces Peppermint Water, mix and take a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime. And (would you believe it?), just because they didn't lose as much weight in a week as I have in several months of persistent use of this harmless prescription they said it wouldn't do them any good. ' What do you think of that for the patience of fat people?

Of course, I told them how absurd it was—showed how little it cost in time, and money, and effort—that results were as certain as sunrise—told them it wouldn't hurt them a bit or turn their stomachs like some other things had—and I'm actually forcing some of them to do themselves a good turn.

I've come to the conclusion that if fat folks had any patience they wouldn't be fat—they'd take this prescription and become slender.

DEVELOP YOUR BUST

3 TO 5 INCHES IN 30 DAYS

50c PACKAGE FREE TO ANY WOMAN WHO WANTS A BEAUTIFUL FIGURE

These pictures show the Improvement that may be made by using Dr. Kelly's Form Developer. Bust full and plump. Wrinkles gone. Complexion beautiful.

A full, beautifully developed bosom is a woman's charm that makes her more attractive than bright eyes, regular features or flowing hair. Women who are thin, flat-chested and undeveloped always feel humiliated and embarrassed when out in the society of the more fortunate members who possess the beautiful curves of a perfect figure.

A discovery that is of vital interest to all thin women, to all who wish perfect and full development, is offered to readers of this paper absolutely free for introductory purposes. This scientific treatment is the result of long study and investigation by one of the leading physicians in New York State, who in seeking to overcome the defects in her own figure without the use of pads or forms discovered a happy combination of tissue-building elements that increased her bust some four inches, made her arms round and shapely and her neck and shoulders plump and symmetrical.

This prescription of Dr. Catherine Kelly's is a real discovery on far different lines from ordinary form development treatments, and this explains its almost uniform success. A peculiar feature of her prescription which makes it especially valuable in the present styles of dress is that it has no effect upon hips, and it simply makes the bosom full and firm, does away with the scrawny, skinny neck and gives plump, symmetrical arms.

Her treatment is absolutely harmless and has been tested with almost unbelievable results by many leading society women. Read a few extracts from those who are thankful to Dr. Catherine Kelly for their beautiful figure:

MRS. M. HAYWOOD says:

"Please send me another package of your Form Developer. I can see a vast change in myself and feel so much better. It certainly is one great remedy."

RUTH BILLINGTON says:

"I write to tell you that I have finished with your treatment and find it all you recommend it to be; excellent for the complexion, for nerves and for developing the bust. You may use this letter if you wish."

MRS. C. KOEHLER says:

"I am so well pleased with your Form Developer that I have recommended it to one of my friends, and she wishes to try it. I herewith inclose money order, for which please send me another treatment. Thanking you for the results your remedy has brought me."

KATHERINE HEIMES says:

"Your treatment is fine. I feel and look much better. The wrinkles in my face are gone, my appetite is better and I feel just fine all over. Many thanks to you."

MRS. L. H. CARSON says:

"I have used your Form Developer and liked it so much that two of my friends want me to order it for them. Inclosed find the money for two complete treatments. Please pack in one box."

Dr. Kelly not only gained a beautiful form by her own prescription, but used it successfully with many of her patients. Women, this is a personal message from a physician of your own sex, and all we ask is to prove to you without a penny's expense on your part that Dr. Kelly's form developer will give you a perfect figure, beautiful complexion and improve the general health. BROADWAY JONES

A Thrilling Story of "The Great White Way," based on George M. Cohan's play now running in New York

TODAY'S INSTALMENT

Copyright, 1912, by George M. Cohan.

By BERTRAND BABCOCK.

"WELL, go home and practice Sammy," she said. "We don't want to hear it. Mr. Wallace is going to play the piano."

Obediently Bob moved to the piano and began to play. But Sammy had already started upon another of his compositions for one string on a banjo, and he was quick to order Wallace:

"Say, keep that piano quiet, will you?"

Wallace struck another note, with his smiling eyes upon Sammy.

The boy stopped at once and began to push his banjo into its case.

"Shows how much you people know about music," he muttered. "Gosh, you can hear a piano any day. There ain't ten good banjo players in Connecticut. I ain't going to stay here and listen to that darned old thing. I'm going to take my banjo and go home."

Mrs. Spottswood was quick to reprove her son for lack of "being polite when you are invited out to supper." But the fat little Spottswood was already on his feet and half-way to the door.

"Gosh," he mumbled, "that's all the thanks I get going to all the trouble of bringin' my instrument an' everything. Some day you'll be darned glad to hear me play it, when I get it down perfect."

Sammy's mother continued the reproof, saying:

"Ain't you got any more manners than to go without saying good night and thanking Mr. Jones for the supper?"

Almost on the verge of blubbering was Sammy. Wailed he:

"Well, my feelin's hurt, and I'm going home."

"Just for this you don't get any money to go to the circus this year," snapped his mother.

Through the edge of his almost tears Sammy grinned as he retorted:

"Well, if it ain't any better than it was last year I don't care a darn. I'm getting tired of being bossed around, anyway. I'll bet Edison, the inventor, didn't let people boss him around when he was a boy. I'm goin' to take my banjo and live in New Haven."

And proudly Sammy strode out through the gate and along the road toward his own home.

Alone with Josie

Spottswood and his wife followed in the wake of Sammy, for the moment determined to overtake their son and chastise him for his rudeness. Clara and Wallace were immersed in themselves at the piano, where snatches of music and snatches of a conversation very dear to themselves alternated.

So, to all intents, Broadway and Josie were left alone.

"Poor Sammy," he said, "he but shares the common lot in life. He wants something, and can't have it. And I want something, and can't have it."

His eyes and his inflection gave an undercurrent to his words, but the girl chose to misunderstand him.

"There is little that a young man with your prospects in life cannot have, if you desire the better—the higher things," she said primly enough, but there was a dimple in her cheek at the thought of Broadway's desiring seriously for long any spiritual uplift.

Broadway knew perfectly well that the thing she meant was not the thing in his own mind, but here was an opening made to his taste. Gradually all the evening he had been screwing up his courage. He would dare. He was about to tell her that there was one thing in all the world that he wanted and his mental lips had already framed the words, "I love you."

But those little words, "I love you" had started a flood of recollections and he saw them as they had been written in the notes he and Mrs. Gerard had exchanged at that "dinner with a punch."

Mrs. Gerard! He reflected bitterly. Of course Josie had read in the newspapers of that night of folly at Speary's, so far away in view of the great change that had come to him. Of course she knew of the culminating announcement of that "dinner with a punch." He could not speak to this young girl, this woman who was above him in all refinements of character and feelings. After all his mere refusal to go over to the trust had been inspired by her, he thought sadly. And he could not say to her those words, which use by him and Mrs. Gerard had sullied "I love you."

In acute remorse he groaned aloud:

"There's no fool like a young fool."

The girl smiled her wise, mysterious smile, with its vague quality of comfort. Almost it seemed in the bitterest of self-reproaches she echoed his words:

"There's no fool like a young fool."

PART VII.

How from a Butler May Be Made a Semi-Genuine Earl

OF one thing Jackson was sure: Josie was applying his own words to herself, but why? She was not engaged to Mrs. Gerard! The puzzle becoming entirely too much for any one man unaided by woman intuition, Broadway gave it up and returned to a bitter self-condemnation because of his affair with Mrs. Gerard, while the girl at his side talked quietly of commonplaces.

Jackson was at the height of his reproaches addressed to a certain Broadway Jones, when quite by chance his eye traveled through the open door. Standing close to the edge of the veranda was a white-faced man, his own eyes riveted upon Jackson. A moment more Jones recognized Rankin, his long absent butler. Plainly Rankin was making signals to him, but whether of war or peace Broadway could not decide. However, Rankin wanted him. With an excuse of an important business visitor who would detain him but a moment, Broadway stepped outside.

"Well, where is she?" he demanded in the butler's ear, but "sh-h" was his only answer.

Rankin seized his sleeve and drew him through the gate of Jones Manor and even walked him down the road a few hundred feet.

Jackson obeyed the commanding pressure of the other's fingers without question. If Rankin used such secrecy the need must be great.

In the dark shadow of an old elm that Jackson's grandfather had climbed, the butler allowed his master to stop. Broadway gulped down a great fear that seemed to rise materially in his throat.

"Don't break it to me," he said. "Tell me the worst at once."

The butler smiled calmly as he answered:

"Surprising news, sir."

"Well, tell me, tell me; what did she say? How did you get rid of her?" He had taken hope from the butler's answer.

Again Rankin smiled.

"I didn't get rid of her, sir," he said.

"What? Where did you leave her?"

"I didn't leave her, sir. I've been with her ever since."

"Where is she?"

"She's here, sir."

Jackson jumped to one side, peering in a very real terror into the shadows. He had had a glimpse of what life could be made on the heights—and now the depths were returning.

"Oh, she's not under this tree, sir,"—the butler's tone was reassuring—"but she's down the road a bit, sir."

"She came back with you?" trembled out Jackson.

"Yes, sir."

"Oh, you idiot! What did you let her do that for?"

"She insisted that she must see you and talk with you," Rankin answered.

"I won't see her. I won't talk to her," exclaimed the youth.

There was calm finality in the butler's tone now as he said:

"But she's right up the road a bit. You must see her, sir. She's perfectly reconciled, sir, believe me."

Weakly Jackson leaned against his grandfather's elm. This was too much.

"Reconciled!" he gasped. "You mean she understands"——

"Oh, yes, sir," broke in the suave Rankin. "She's already sent out a denial of her engagement to you in the form of another announcement."

300 Rexall Clerks Dine and Listen to Practical Talks

Nearly 300 Rexall drug clerks from all New England, sat down to dinner last night in the Copley-Plaza Hotel after a day visiting the offices, laboratory buildings and factory of their host, the United Drug Company.

A vaudeville and stereopticon entertainment was provided and at the close of the dinner practical talks were given on the various departments of the modern drug store. The speakers included Louis K. Liggett, president of the company; Bert Wilkerson, manager of the stationery and sundries department; William C. Reilly, manager of the advertising department; Charles E. Murnan, secretary and sales manager; and Thomas V. Wooten, manager of the State Rexall clubs.

In the morning the drug clerks inspected the United Drug Company's laboratory on Huntington avenue, where they listened to addresses by Secretary Murnan, L. I. Scaremer, vice-president of the company and superintendent of the laboratory, and B. E. Hadley, assistant superintendent.

At the company's kitchens at Clark and Commercial streets the process of candy-making was shown and explained.

EMERSON GIRLS IN "WHITE HOUSE" PLAY

Stock Prices; Financial News

Markets Higher at Opening; Firm Tone Displayed; Trading Is Light.

STATE STREET, Nov. 21.—Trading was brisk at the opening of the local market today and coppers showed a fractional advance from last night's closing prices. Industrials were quiet and showed a weakening tendency. Calumet & Hecla declared a dividend of $12 per share. This compares with $12 declared three months ago, $10 six months ago and $6 a year ago.

New York Opening.

There was a strong tone in the New York stock market at the opening today, fractional gains being made throughout the list. The best advance occurred in Brooklyn Rapid Transit, which went to 91⅝ within fifteen minutes after the opening, a gain of 1⅛ over Wednesday's closing.

Traders attributed most of the early strength to the improvement in the European situation. The initial gains included: Amalgamated Copper, ¼; American Beet Sugar, ¼; American Can, ½; American Cotton Oil, ⅝; American Smelting, ⅞; Atchison, ½; Bethlehem Steel, ⅝; California Petroleum, ⅝; Canadian Pacific, ⅝; Chesapeake & Ohio, ¼; St. Paul, ½; Chino Copper, ⅜; Erie Common, ½; Missouri Pacific, ⅝; Northern Pacific, ⅝; Reading, ⅜; Southern Pacific ¾; Union Pacific, ½; U. S. Rubber, ¼, and United States Steel, ½. Republic Iron & Steel, with a decline of , was the only issue that fell in the early trading.

The market became very quiet near the end of the first hour, but the tone was firm and stocks held all their early gains.

North Butte Developments.

If present plans mature, the North Butte will install in its Granite Mountain shaft the largest electric hoist in this country and one of the largest in the world. Officials of the company have for some time been investigating as to the cost and success of such equipment, and it has been ascertained that the electric hoist is altogether used in the big properties in Johannesburg, with the most satisfactory results. From the information at present on hand, the electric hoist can be operated more economically and with better results than any other, and if the present ideas and plans of the North Butte management are carried through, the electric hoist will be installed some time in the future.

The Granite Mountain shaft has just been sunk to a depth of 2,000 feet and a station is being cut at that point. As soon as it is completed a cross-cut of about 50 or 75 feet will be run to connect with other workings and then the sinking of the shaft will be resumed and will be continued to a depth of some 600 or 800 feet further. The ground is very good and hard and no mineral bodies have been encountered in the sinking so far.

The North Butte is mining on every level of the Speculator from the 1,800-foot level to the 2,800-foot level, but the greater part of the ore being shipped to the Washoe smelter is coming from above the lower level. The ore reserves are being steadily increased and in a short time the rich ore bodies on the 2,800-foot level will be developed. The production this month is being increased and it is estimated that the output will run in the vicinity of 250,000 pounds more than any previous month for a long time. Some time ago it was thought that the Speculator shaft would have to be closed this Fall for retimbering, but an examination of it only a short time ago showed it to be in good condition and the work of retimbering has been indefinitely postponed.

Foreign Financial News.

London copper warrants were quiet at the opening with spot unchanged at £78, and futures 1s. 3d. lower at £78 11-16.

The minimum rate of discount of the Bank of England remains unchanged at 5 per cent.

The improvement in the political situation, through the relaxation of the tension between Austria and Servia, increases the belief that the Balkan war has ended.

This was the dominating influence in the London securities markets, which broadened on an advancing movement of prices. Consols hardened, and home rails made an irregular display of strength.

American railway shares participated in the betterment. A rise in Canadian Pacific was partly attributed to Berlin. Sentiment on foreigners was cheerful and Paris helped to impart buoyancy in mines. De Beers advanced ¼ to 21⅝, and Rio Tintos ⅝ to 76⅞.

New York Cotton Market.

Heavy buying at the opening of the cotton market forced prices up 13 to 15 points today. The figures of the census bureau's report were bullish and weather advices from the South were also a factor. Profit taking after the call carried off about ½ of the early gain. Futures and spot were steady in Liverpool and spot was active there.

Financial News Items.

It is announced that the $40,000,000 one-year 5 per cent. notes of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company, offered at 99½, have all been sold.

New York banks deposited at the subtreasury today $100,000 for transfer to San Francisco.

The business of the Commonwealth Edison Company, this year, will be the largest in any fiscal year in the history of that corporation.

The officials of the United Fruit Company state that the plantations owned by them in Jamaica were only slightly damaged by the recent hurricane which swept the western part of the island.

The New York banks lost $1,893,000 to the sub-treasury Wednesday and since Friday have lost $3,506,000.

At the annual meeting of the Boston, Revere Beach & Lynn Railroad held today, stockholders voted unanimously to approve the purchase of the Point Shirley Street Railway, by the directors.

The Guaranty Trust Company, New York, has arranged to import $750,000 in gold from London.

The New York Air Brake Company has declared a quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent. on its stock, making the first payment since July 28, 1911 when the same amount was paid.

The United States Motor Company has filed an involuntary petition in bankruptcy in the Federal Court at Trenton, N. J.

At a meeting of the directors of the J. B. B. Coal Company, held today, the resignation of M. E. McMahon as treasurer was received and accepted, and E. M. Richards, treasurer of the Massachusetts Gas Companies and the New England Coal & Coke Company, was elected to that position.

Special Notice.

200,000 PEOPLE USE INTERNAL BATH

The record of its cures and benefits reads like a revelation to those hitherto unacquainted with it. It is used by means of the "J. B. L. Cascade" (the only scientific appliance for this purpose).

A book has been published on this subject entitled "Why Man of Today Is Only 50% Efficient." Copy will be handed to you if you will call and ask for it at all Riker-Jaynes Drug Stores in New England, where the Internal Bath is on exhibition.

PRESIDENT-ELECT WILSON WILL HAVE COW WORTH $5,000

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 21.—William Galloway, a business man of Waterloo, Ia., announced here today that he would go to Princeton in the near future and present President-elect Woodrow Wilson with a $5,000 cow. The cow is registered under the name of Nona of Avon. Mr. Galloway says she is worth every cent of her assessed value.

MASHER SENTENCED TO THE WORKHOUSE

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—"Ah, there, sweet," was the greeting Harry Duane, who says he came from Boston, gave Mrs. Rose Miller of No. 247 Avenue A, according to her statement to Magistrate Freschi in the Tombs Court, and "Thirty days in the workhouse," was the sequel pronounced from the bench. "He touched me on the shoulder in Catherine street," said this little woman, "and though I told him my husband would be along, he persisted, and I had to use my umbrella and fists."

BOXER FALLS DEAD; NO BLOWS STRUCK

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Frederick Merten, a clerk, eighteen years old, who had put on the gloves for an exhibition bout with Thomas Holmes, a driver, nineteen years old, at the Century Club, fell dead while walking to the centre of the ring to shake hands. A physician declared death was due to heart failure induced by excitement.

SOLE CUTTERS QUIT IN 7 LYNN PLANTS

Five hundred sole workers, members of the Lynn Sole Workers' Union, struck today for higher wages and shorter hours. Seven Lynn sole-cutting concerns, which supply most of the Lynn shoe factories with sole leather, are affected. Business men have taken steps to arbitrate. These are firms affected: B. Parker Chick, Millard & Merrill, Stevenson & Osborne, J. C. M. Phinney, W. B. Phinney, George E. Bodwell and Batchelder & Spencer.

JAIL TERMS FOR TWO SUFFRAGETTES

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Isabella Irving was sentenced to six months and Ethel Slade to four months on the charge of damaging shop windows November 6, when they participated in a raid with other women as a protest against the rejection by the House of Commons of an amendment providing for women suffrage in the Home Rule bill for Ireland.

LATERAL WINGS FOR THE STATE HOUSE

Lateral extensions, or wings, on either side of the State House, have been determined upon by the State House Commission. The easterly wing, as planned, will extend to Bowdoin street, with a recess to accommodate the Hooker statue. The westerly wing will occupy the land owned by the Commonwealth on Mount Vernon street.

LATEST COTTON REPORT.

The cotton report issued today by the census bureau shows 10,291,431 bales, counting round as half-bales, ginned from the growth of 1912 to November 14, compared with 11,313,236 for 1911, and 8,780,432 for 1910. Round bales included this year are 62,490, compared with 75,963 for 1911 and 93,364 for 1910. Sea Island included 41,321 for 1912, 71,204 for 1911, and 52,631 for 1910. The distribution of the Sea Island cotton for 1912 by States is: Florida, 14,952; Georgia, 23,822, and South Carolina, 2,547.

Pauline Smith Makes Debut at the Copley-Plaza

Several hundred guests were bidden to the reception at the Copley-Plaza, at which Miss Pauline Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Frank Smith of No. 369 Marlboro street, was formally introduced to society. She was assisted in receiving by her mother and Barbara Beebe of Malden, Margaret Stone, Natalie Cumner, Daisy and Helen Mills, and Roberta and Helen Trainer of Brookline, E[illegible] Cochrane of Dedham, Louise Dixon of Boston, and Catherine MacHale of Jamaica Plain.

A reception was given by Mrs. Arthur Little at her home on Commonwealth avenue, to introduce her young daughter, Miss Anne Means. Among the pourers were Margery Lee, Josephine Rantoul, Celeste Burgess, Miriam Sears, Helen Winsor, Constance Wharton, Elinor Lawrence, Margaret Stoddard, Constance Gardner, Margaret Russell, Eleanor Cabot, Charlotte Baylies, Eleanor Fabyan, Louise McAllister, Olivia Ames, Alice Wesselhoeft, Nancy Cabot, Mary Thorndike, Julia Appleton, Elsie Burr, Penelope King, Sarah Winslow, Elisabeth Hubbard, Doris Russell, Rosamond Houghton, Miriam Mason, Hope Thacher and Dorothy Morgan.

Mrs. Frederick Blake Holder presented her daughter, Miss Edith Woodruff Holder, at a reception in her home, No. 144 Brattle street, Cambridge. Miss Holder wore white satin and chiffon trimmed with white fur and her mother was gowned in pale blue satin.

Miss Sarah Winslow was the guest of honor at a dance at the Tuileries by Miss Adele Thayer of Commonwealth avenue. The head usher was Harrison Mifflin, who was assisted by a group of Harvard men, among whom were Devereux Winslow, Sherman Thorndike, Philip Dwight, Thayer Francis, William H. Claflin, Junius Richards, George Whitney, John Jeffries and Lincoln Baylies.

The annual assembly of the Boston College Club of Cambridge will be held at St. Mary's Hall, in that city tomorrow evening. Dancing will be under the direction of Edward N. Manning, president of the club, assisted by Dr. Eugene A. McCarthy and a large corps of aids.

CANAL COMMITTEE SAILS FOR HOME

PANAMA, Nov. 21.—The committee of the House of Representatives which has been investigating the progress of the work on the Panama Canal has finished its work and will sail for home today. It is stated that the amount required for next year's work on the canal will be approximately $30,000,000. The members of the committee met Secretary of War Stimson when he arrived yesterday afternoon.

TWO WOMEN HELD AS "UNDESIRABLES"

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—Two women registered at the Hotel St. Francis as Mrs. J. Ward Carter of London and Mrs. J. W. Chard of New York, are under arrest at the Federal detention station on Angel Island as undesirables. Mrs. Carter arrived from Hong Kong. Mrs. Chard said she had come to meet her daughter from New York. Both protested that the arrest was an outrage.

DOUGLAS GIVES $300 FOR SICK CHILDREN

BROCKTON, Nov. 21.—In accordance with his annual custom, ex-Governor William L. Douglas has contributed $300 to the Brockton Woman's Club for the benefit of school children who need treatment for defective eyes, ears and throats.

FAMILY AT BEDSIDE OF SENATOR RAYNER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Senator Rayner is sinking rapidly this morning. His family were hastily summoned at 3 o'clock and are at his bedside. His physicians do not expect him to live until noon today.

Grahame-White to Try 30-Hour Fight Over the Atlantic

LONDON, Nov. 21.—At the close of a flight which Claude Grahame-White took with Otto K. Kahn as a passenger, the aviator told of a plan he had formed to fly across the Atlantic. He said:

> It has been my pet scheme for a long time past, but now I have completed plans for the machine and commenced to build it. It will be of 1,000 horsepower, with four engines and six propellers.
>
> Each engine will be of 250 horsepower, and they will be so arranged as to be independent each of the others; that is to say, if two engines break down, the other two will be quite sufficient to drive the machine.
>
> We expect to do the journey from land to land in something between twenty and thirty hours. The machine being built so as to remain in the air thirty hours, all depends on the weather and the course we take.
>
> At present we are undecided whether to go by way of the Azores or across to Newfoundland, but I expect the latter route will be chosen.
>
> The trip is arranged to take place in the Summer, although it is just on the cards that we may not make it until Autumn. The weather then will probably be more favorable; but, whenever we start, I am reasonably sure of success.

ACADEMIC HONORS FOR THE YEAR ARE ANNOUNCED AT TUFTS

Academic honors for the year were announced at Tufts today: F. H. Towsley of Newport, Vt., was selected to represent the A. B. school on the class day platform. Octavia Chapin of Medford will represent the 1913 women of Jackson College. Vannevar Bush of Chelsea will deliver the address for the Engineering School. W. J. Bennett, '14, of Medford, was awarded the scholarship of the class of 1882 for combined athletic and scholastic ability. Van Bush was awarded the scholarship of the class of 1898. Marion Colby, '13, received the Alpha Omicron Pi sorority prize scholarship. Ines M. Gray was awarded the Alpha Xi Delta sorority scholarship. Clarence E. Powers, '14, of Meridan, Ct., will hold the Moses True prize scholarship for excellence in oratory. R. L. Davison, '14, of Athol, Mass., received the Greenwood prize in oratory. Francis O'Meara, '14, of Roxbury, was the recipient of the Goddard prize in chemistry.

The Goddard prizes in French were awarded to Margaret Buck and Francis Maulsby of Somerville. F. H. Towsley will hold the Phillips Memorial for the coming year.

STADIUM BRIDGE CONTRACT SIGNED

The Metropolitan Park Commission announced today that a contract had been made with Holbrook, Cabot & Rollins for building the Stadium Bridge across the Charles River under the Lars Anderson fund. The work, it was stated, will begin at once. The bridge is to extend from Boylston street. Mr. Anderson contributed $300,000 for the bridge, which is to be twelve feet above the water. Boston and Cambridge will build the approaches.

FOOTBALL PICTURES SHOWN BY SEARS

Pictures of the great Harvard and Dartmouth football game last Saturday were the feature of Dick Sears' lecture on "The Life of a Newspaper Photographer" before the Medford Club last evening. President Brewer introduced Sears as "the live wire photographer from the Boston AMERICAN." Among other features shown were scenes in Hamilton, Bermuda, where Governor Wilson is spending his vacation.

MAY GET HOLIDAY.

Following the custom in many of the large cities of the country, it is likely postoffice employes in Boston and other Massachusetts cities and towns will have a holiday Thanksgiving and the deliveries of mail will be omitted. Whether deliveries on holidays shall be made or omitted is optional with the postmasters.

California

THERE is something to appeal to everyone in California. The orange blossoms and golden fruit, the ever-present flowers, the great snow-capped mountain-peaks and the mammoth trees. The trip, too, has untold attractions, if you travel by the Why Has the New Haven Railroad Investigation Been Stopped?

The public will be deeply interested to know why the United States Grand Jury—which had subpoenaed Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan, Mr. William Rockefeller et al. to tell today what they know about the New Haven and Grand Trunk merger—received orders yesterday from Washington to postpone such inquiry indefinitely.

The New Haven Railroad has been trying to bottle up New England, and has succeeded. It has endeavored to acquire an absolute monopoly of transportation—including trolley and steamboat lines. It has spent a hundred and fifty million dollars in its ruthless struggle for exclusive control of the carriage of men and freight by land and sea in five States east of New York City. It has neglected the upkeep of its main lines and equipment, and has shocked the country with a succession of dreadful and seemingly preventable disasters to passenger trains.

The Boston AMERICAN, backed by the Boston Chamber of Commerce, has made a long and expensive fight, a successful fight, to secure the entrance into Boston of a competing line—the Grand Trunk Railroad.

The State of Rhode Island—striving to free itself from the tightening toils of the New Haven monopoly—had virtually subsidized the Grand Trunk in the sum of $2,000,000 for the sake of getting a competing line to Providence. But this project was suddenly balked and cancelled by the successful machinations of the New Haven people.

Thus it appears that the New Haven Railroad has treated the Interstate Commerce act as if it existed, not to prevent monopoly, but to promote monopoly. No plain man can read the Sherman act, in connection with the undisputed facts about the growth of the New Haven system, without perceiving that the law has been scornfully defied.

Why then has the faithful United State District Attorney, Mr. Henry A. Wise, been compelled by his superiors in the Department of Justice at Washington to withhold his hand? Why has the Grand Jury investigation—which was to be undertaken today in the Postoffice Building in New York—been suddenly subjected to an indefinite postponement?

There was a time two years ago when Mr. Taft was capable—for a moment at least—of resolute action against interstate transportation monopolies. The injunctions, involving more than two hundred railroads, ordered by him against the raising of freight rates pending action by the Interstate Commerce Commission, is remembered as an example of Executive vigor.

But now it seems that Mr. Taft has fallen under other influences. He has Senatorial advisors who are also railroad attorneys.

In about a hundred days from this date a new administration will be in the saddle at Washington. Is it possible that Mr. Taft is ready to drop the reins at this early date?

Are United States Grand Juries to sit paralysed or enchanted, is the Sherman act to be frozen stiff, is monoply to grow and thrive like a poisonous gourd—until after the 4th of March?

There Ought to Be Intelligence and Humanity Enough in Europe to Prevent A REAL WAR.

The Balkans and the Dardanelles Should Be Protected by International Agreement Against Further War and Warlike Proceedings.

Copyright, 1912, by American-Journal-Examiner

Some busy people may not understand main facts concerning the war between the Balkan States and Turkey—and the great interest that nearly all the European Powers feel in the outcome.

Here is an explanation, short and sufficiently simple to read to your fifteen-year-old boy:

England, the great naval Power, holds one door, the western gate to the Mediterranean.

The eastern gate is the Dardanelles, the little strip of water that separates Turkey in Europe from Asia.

That little gate which shuts out Russia and her fleets from the Mediterranean has been held for centuries by the Turks.

And Turkey has kept the Dardanelles and kept her European possessions only because the great European powers wished it, fearing to disturb what is called the balance of power.

Turkey, in possession of the Dardanelles, was harmless. She could do nothing, having no force. She was no danger to the great Powers of the Mediterranean—France, Italy, Spain, Austria.

Yet she held the Dardanelles, kept Russia confined and away from the Mediterranean, which was the great thing—and Europe wanted no change in that situation. England would not let Russia have the Dardanelles. Russia and the other Powers would not let England have that passage. So everything was stagnant, and Turkey stayed in Europe.

Europe let Turkey slay and murder, because Europe wanted peace of mind.

But the Balkan peoples, living free among their hills and mountains, born of free women, not poisoned in their childhood by the air of the Turkish harem, developed real men.

And today the world sees those scattered, poor, simple but desperately courageous men of the Balkans driving the degraded Turks like frightened dogs before them and soon to enter Constantinople—if powerful western Europe does not forbid.

The danger in the situation for all civilization is the possibility of a great European disturbance that would send two or more of the great European Powers to war.

England would fight rather than let Russia have the Dardanelles. Germany, France and Italy would fight rather than let England have that passageway.

LETTERS FROM AMERICAN READERS

FAVORS AN EXPORT ON COAL

Editor Boston AMERICAN:

Dear Sir—A Canadian recently remarked to me "if the anthracite coal was on that side of the line the government would place a good stiff export tax on it."

It is doubted if Canada would permit anthracite coal to go out of the country under any circumstances did she have the only deposits in the world.

Practically all of the anthracite coal in the world underlies a very small portion of the State of Pennsylvania, and the deposits are largely owned by companies subsidiary to railroad companies known as coal carrying roads.

The northern terminal of a number of the coal carrying roads is contingent to the Canadian border. Coal freight is excellent revenue, and the long haul from the mines to Buffalo, Oswego, etc., gives the coal carrying roads a fine income.

Today there are any number of towns between the mines and the Canadian border that are bare of coal and the dealers are absolutely unable to secure any at any price. Every day train loads of coal pass through these same towns destined for the Canadian trade.

Is it right that our anthracite coal should be sent to Canada when every pound mined is needed here? Should the people suffer for want of fuel in order that the coal carrying roads may reap the advantage of a long haul, which means the highest freight rates, the greatest revenue and large dividends?

If the Canadians want our coal the people of the United States should profit by it, and there should be an export duty on anthracite coal and a stiff duty. If there was not such a good market in Canada for anthracite coal we would probably pay less for it on this side of the border, and every town in the western section of the United States that wanted coal would have it.

Yours respectfully, W. H. B.

One Hundred Ways to Earn Money at Home

A Fifty-Page Booklet by Mabel Barclay Ury

Will be sent postpaid to any address upon receipt of ten cents in stamps to cover cost of mailing and handling. Address BOSTON AMERICAN PROMOTION DEPARTMENT, No. 5 Winthrop square, Boston.

By MABEL BARCLAY URY

THERE is a great deal more in the letter to which I wish to call your attention today than perhaps appears on the surface. The letter is by Grace I. Mackay of No. 10 Romsey street, Dorchester. It reads:

> My aunt, who is very deaf, appealed to me to think of some way she could earn money at home. She lives within three blocks of an exclusive gentlemen's club. We had some little cards made which read: "Handy woman—Mrs. Holmes. When you want that button sewed on in a hurry call upon her."
>
> It has worked finely, and, to show how one thing leads to another, it has brought my aunt lots of dainty mending from their women friends, and she has been asked this last Summer to go to a couple of homes, while the people were away, to open up the windows for a short while to air out. So the title Handy Woman has brought her all she can attend to.

We have had letters before from women who did mending for bachelors, from women who were caretakers, from women who have done every one of the things that Mrs. Holmes has done. But there are two points about her work that I wish you especially to notice.

The first is that she is deaf; and deaf people find it unusually hard to find occupation in a hearing world. For the woman who is handicapped by this infirmity, so that she cannot do anything dependent on hearing instructions or being with other people, here is a thought on work which needs practically no instruction and which other people will never interfere with.

The second is that there is in every community a place for the Handy Woman. Mrs. Holmes does not confine herself to any one thing. She is willing to do any odd job that needs her and that she can perform. Think of the hundreds of housewives and people in boarding houses who are looking and eager to pay for just such service!

The Handy Woman has a place of her own in the world.

One dollar will be paid for every letter contributed by Boston AMERICAN readers, and used in the AMERICAN, containing ideas helpful to those WOMEN WHO WISH TO EARN MONEY AT HOME. This department is organised to help women help themselves. Please write on one side of the paper only and address MABEL BARCLAY URY, Boston AMERICAN.

There Ought to Be Intelligence and Humanity Enough ih Europe to Prevent A REAL WAR.

Austria fears the arrival of Balkan competition at some seaport on the Adriatic—which is one little branch of the Mediterranean flood.

The only thing that can prevent trouble, and perhaps a very great war, is COMMON SENSE.

The people of Europe do not want war.

The statesmen know that a war is just as costly for the victorious nation as for the nation conquered.

If Germany should conquer England, destroying English credits and English values, Germany would suffer a loss in consequence that would cripple her for half a century.

It ought to be possible for the nations not only to avoid this particular war on a big scale, but to end the present little war with justice to the men of the Balkans, and justice even to the miserable Turks.

It ought to be possible for the really great statesmen in Europe to take this occasion to end war entirely—substituting an international police on land and sea for the frightful standing armies and great navies, and forbidding absolutely the existence of any other armed force on this planet.

Germany has a million soldiers.

France has a million soldiers, and Austria and Hungary have half a million.

Russia has a million.

One single INTERNATIONAL army of half a million, backed by the moral support and the reserves of all the nations in a peace compact, could forbid immediately the existence of any other armed force, eliminate all the fighting navies. Such an international army would permit no fighting organization to be maintained on this globe—except the armed police within each boundary. It would save thousands of millions of dollars annually, now spent in war, and put back into useful industry and agriculture the millions of men that waste their time parading up and down in uniforms.

The labor that would be saved by abolishing war, the money that would be saved by abolishing war and preparation for war would in a century make of this planet a cultivated, respectable abode, with its swamps drained, its deserts irrigated, needed roads, railroads and canals provided.

It is too soon to hope that the nations will unite, stop fighting each other and fight against nature, her swamps and deserts.

But it is not too much to hope that the nations of Europe will agree to make all Turkey in Europe, both sides of the Dardanelles and the Balkan States entirely peaceful, prosperous territory—protected against war as Switzerland is protected.

A parliament such as that which met in Berlin on the occasion when Disraeli returned with his "peace with honor" could meet in Constantinople, or in Buda-Pesth, guarantee the neutrality of the Dardanelles, forbidding passage of all warships, maintaining men and fortifications internationally armed, establish a European police, stop murder by the Turks and brigandage by others, and give to that cursed, plague-ridden, tormented eastern Europe a chance to live, develop and be happy.

Editor Boston AMERICAN:

Dear Sir—I desire to voice my appreciation of your editorial dealing with the New Haven Railroad, published in your issue of November 15. Never, in the course of my habit of editorial reading, have I seen the truth of a situation more tersely or more convincingly put, never have I read an editorial couched in more vigorous and simple English, never more truth crowded into the same space. You deserve the gratitude and praise of all thinking men, and I think you will get it, too. Keep up the good work. Respectfully yours,

W. T. BECKER,
